

New England In Storm Path McCarthy Wins 'Letter' Evidence Fight

Controversial Document Will Remain Secret

Investigators Will Study 'FBI Report'; Senator Questioned

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today won his fight to get his hotly controversial "FBI letter" into evidence in his Senate hearing — but Senate investigators ruled it still secret and refused to make it public.

This decision, hailed by the McCarthy side as "eminently satisfactory," came as the six-member special committee called a Saturday session in an effort to finish the public hearings this week.

The committee bowed to a new ruling by Atty. Gen. Brownell that the 2½-page document produced by McCarthy during the McCarthy-Army hearings last spring is still secret and must not be made public.

But the senators granted McCarthy's plea—made in a heated exchange yesterday — that they study the letter themselves and weigh it in considering one of the charges against him.

McCarthy Cross-Examined

This charge is that the Wisconsin senator illegally accepted secret FBI data and then presented it in the form of a "spurious" letter. McCarthy insists he had a right to receive the document and that it is exactly what it purports to be—a summary of an FBI report with security information removed.

Today's session was devoted chiefly to committee cross-examination of McCarthy on another of the five main groups of charges against him — that he abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker in questioning him at a closed hearing last Feb. 18.

McCarthy stuck firmly to his insistence that he did no such thing—that he sought only to "get the truth" from Zwicker when the general, according to McCarthy, "was not giving us straight forward—what I would consider honest answers."

Zwicker "Arrogant"

Guy de Faria, assistant committee counsel, suggested Zwicker was only obeying presidential directives when he sidestepped questions about the Army's handling of alleged subversives.

McCarthy said no — that he would have honored a refusal to answer on that ground. He repeated an earlier charge that Zwicker, who sat listening in the hearing room, was "arrogant" and "evasive" without good reason.

Anyhow, McCarthy said, his remarks to Zwicker were not abusive — "I don't think you could call those criticisms," he said.

The senator agreed that he had told Zwicker he wasn't fit to wear "that uniform." But he said he was referring to the uniform of a general, not the U.S. Army uniform.

Quake Death Toll To Exceed 1,000

ORLEANSVILLE, Algeria, Sept. 10 (AP)—This once flourishing North African city lay shattered and stricken today in the wake of the most devastating earthquake North Africa has known in generations.

And as tractors and bulldozers dug in to clear the wreckage, the stunned inhabitants were shaken by new but less violent tremors.

French district officials here said 497 bodies had been recovered so far from the ruins of yesterday's disaster. An Algerian official said the dead already buried by relatives and friends before authorities were informed brought the total of confirmed dead to more than 600 in the Orleansville region. Unofficial sources said it was almost certain the final death toll would exceed 1,000. At least 1,000 are known to have been injured.

Authorities said that as the task of clearing the wreckage progresses the bodies of more and more victims doubtless will be found. This is especially true in the center of this city of 32,000 where several large apartment buildings collapsed.

Acid-Throwing Killers Escape Mississippi Jail

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 10 (AP)—Two acid-throwing condemned killers slugged a jailer today and fled from the Hinds County jail which authorities had considered escape proof.

Law enforcement officials immediately threw all their resources, including a plane, into a statewide hunt for the two men.

The men were last seen in a red pickup truck.

The escapees slugged three men after dashing to freedom to steal getaway vehicles. One remained in serious condition.

Jailer In Critical Condition

And Jailer J. C. Landrum remained in critical condition from a blow on the head and was treated for acid burns of the face.

The two men sentenced to die in Mississippi's portable electric chair were: Minor Sorber, sentenced for his part in the slaying of a fellow convict at the state penitentiary; and Gerald Gallego, convicted of killing a Gulf Coast policeman.

"We've got everything we have on roadblocks from one end of the state to the other," the highway patrol reported.

Officers said Gallego refused to return to his cell last night after taking a shower and was left in the corridor in front of the jail cells on the fifth floor of the courthouse.

Acid Used For Cleaning

When Landrum brought breakfast to prisoners, he had to open the last door separating Gallego from freedom.

"This Gallego had some acid in his cell," an officer said. The acid is used for cleaning.

"He threw that acid in (Landrum's) face, knocked him on the head with a piece of iron," that apparently came from his bunk or the shower. Gallego then flipped a switch opening Sorber's cell.

The two men dashed down an open stairway leading to the jail kitchen and snapped the lock on a door that left their road free.

Oldest Theater In U.S. Opens 121st Year Without Casualty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Tempting the indelicate hand of fate, the manager of the National Theater announced today that his house never has suffered a casualty, not even Abe Lincoln.

"As a matter of fact," Scott Kirkpatrick remarked, "in all likelihood, Lincoln would not have been assassinated if he'd gone to the National."

Kirkpatrick took over as manager of the nation's oldest theater last month. At 39 one of the country's youngest impresarios, he worked his way up after getting stagestruck while a government worker.

In asserting that the National, which opened its 121st season this week, never has had a casualty, Kirkpatrick said:

Boy, 8, Inoculated With Salk Vaccine Is Victim Of Polio

BRADFORD, Pa., Sept. 10 (AP)—Dr. H. J. McGhee, McKean county health director, reported today a second grader who was inoculated with the Salk vaccine is a victim of bulbar-type polio.

The boy is 8-year-old Terry F. Tessa of Smethport, Pa. He is a patient in Bradford hospital. The youngster is reported in serious condition and has been in an oxygen tent for two days.

Officials say the boy is the first Salk vaccine-inoculated child in the state to be hit by the disease.

Tessa was one of 5,000 Pennsylvania second graders inoculated last spring. Bulbar polio is the most serious type.

Westinghouse Strike Averted

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 10 (AP)—The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and Westinghouse Electric Corp. tonight agreed upon a new two-year contract. The agreement came about three hours before a midnight strike deadline.

The corporation said the agreement gives 42,000 workers across the country wage and salary increases averaging "approximately five cents an hour" and higher pensions.

The agreement runs until Oct. 15, 1956. It can be reopened for 30 days' bargaining on wages anytime between Sept. 15 and Nov. 15, 1955.

The wage boosts are retroactive to last July 1 when the old contract expired.

Roosevelt Vows Convention Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. today promised a heated convention floor fight for the Democratic nomination for governor against attempts of Tammany and other party leaders to name J. Lee Harriman.

The late President's son sent out word he was in the fight to a finish. He emphasized it by saying he would not settle for second place—the nomination for lieutenant governor—at the Sept. 21-22 convention in New York.

Roosevelt's hopes of winning despite opposition of four of the state's most influential party leaders were boosted today when the CIO state convention in Albany endorsed his candidacy for the state's top post.

Roosevelt had backing also from some powerful upstate Democratic leaders, such as Daniel P. O'Connell, of Albany. But he still had a stiff, uphill fight in his quest for the governor's chair once occupied by his father on the latter's route to the White House.

Arbenz, Former Guatemala Chief, Flees To Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 10 (AP)—Ex-President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman of Guatemala fled into Mexican exile today with the shouts and curses of a vengeful crowd of his fellow countrymen his only send-off. His reception here was frosty.

Arbenz, the former chief of Guatemala's ousted pro-Communist regime, had spent 10 weeks as hideaway political refugee in the Mexican Embassy in Guatemala. He appeared pale and thin upon his arrival here with 17 of his supporters and his wife and two young sons.

Threatening crowds had gathered at the airport in Guatemala a few hours earlier when news spread of Arbenz' departure. They shouted "Assassins! Criminals! Genocides!" at the departing party. There were also cries of "Death to Arbenz!"

Arbenz and his party had to be spirited out the back door of the Mexican Embassy and taken by a circuitous route to the airport to avert hostile crowds. He had to strip during examination by Guatemalan customs officials. Women in the party wept as they boarded the Mexican commercial plane for the 3½-hour flight.

Ousted By Castillo

Arbenz, a 40-year-old former Guatemalan army colonel, had been among hundreds of political refugees in the Mexican Embassy in Guatemala since the forces of Lt. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas pushed him out of office.

In accord with the traditional Latin-American right of political asylum, Castillo, now Guatemala's president, decided to grant the refugees safe conduct permits out of the country. But the new regime pledged at the same time to seek the extradition of those wanted for numerous murders, tortures and other crimes it contends the former government committed.

Soviets Launch Big CD Program

By TOM WHITNEY
Associated Press Foreign Staff

The leading Soviet paper has announced the U.S.S.R. is now carrying out a nationwide program for training the entire population of the country in air raid precautions.

Pravda in a front-page editorial discussed the activities of the mass membership Soviet civil defense organization known as DOSAAF—from the initials of the Russian words for "Voluntary Society for Assistance to the Army, Aviation and Navy."

Declared the editorial: "The preparation of the entire population for up-to-date air raid and chemical warfare defense . . . must be given priority."

This is the first indication that the Soviet government is undertaking a public nationwide campaign for air raid training. Until a year ago inside Russia certain air raid precautions were being taken—but only on a secret and semi-secret basis. For instance, in Moscow certain apartment houses—though the tenants did not know it—had shelter areas designated.

Lodge Assails Soviet Attacks On U. S. Planes

Challenges Moscow To Put Bomber Case Before World Court

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—American Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. accused the Soviet Union today of a "pattern of unprovoked attacks" on American planes since 1950. He declared they must not go unchallenged.

In a speech to the U.N. Security Council, Lodge said the downing of an American bomber Sept. 4 with the loss of one American was the latest in this series. He called on the Soviet Union to go before the International Court of Justice for a settlement or accept some other means of peaceful adjustment.

Lodge cited six other incidents in which American planes were shot down by Soviet planes from the Baltic Sea almost to Alaska. All told, 28 lives were lost in these attacks, he said, and 16 persons were missing.

Lodge Lists Incidents

Lodge listed the incidents as follows:

"On April 8, 1950, an unarmed United States aircraft was shot down by Soviet aircraft in the Baltic Sea. In this attack 10 American lives were lost.

"On Nov. 6, 1951, an American weather aircraft was shot down by a Soviet aircraft in the Sea of Japan with a loss of 10 lives.

"On Nov. 19, 1951, a Soviet fighter forced an unarmed American plane down onto a Hungarian airfield. The four-man crew of this aircraft was held for ransom.

"On Oct. 7, 1952, an American B29 was shot down near Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan. Eight lives were lost.

"On March 15, 1953, an American aircraft was attacked without warning while en route from Alaska to Japan with no loss of life; the attacking Soviet planes were beaten off.

Vishinsky Ridicules Charge

"On July 29, 1953, an American B50, on a peaceful mission over the Sea of Japan, was shot down without warning; 16 members of that crew are still missing. The copilot was rescued and told the details of the ruthless attack by the Soviet aircraft."

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, just back from home leave during which he dined with Prime Minister Malenkov, ridiculed the American charges that Red MIGs shot down a U.S. Navy Neptune bomber off the coast of Siberia last week. He said the American plane fired first and said the U.S. case did "not hold water."

His answer showed the Russians have no intention of going to the international court.

Wears Sports Coat, Slacks

Dressed in brown sports coat and tan slacks, Eisenhower stood before the elevator in the corridor of a downtown hotel and told reporters:

"They (the party leaders) are here to assure me they are working for (election of) a Congress to support me."

"Under the two-party system, that means a Republican Congress. Of course, all of us want every kind of support we can get from every channel."

"For organizational and procedural purposes it is necessary that we have a Republican-organized House and Senate."

"Insurance Policy"

With a chuckle the President showed off an "insurance policy" presented to him by the Douglas County Republican organization of Nebraska.

A piece of campaign literature which Eisenhower termed "a clever thing," the document says on the cover that it "guarantees the continuation of a sound program that protects against subversion, socialism and financial bankruptcy."

Inside are listed "dividends" claimed by the administration, including "a $7,400,000,000 savings to American taxpayers" through tax cuts.

Puerto Rican Reveals 1950 Plot To Kill Ex-Lawmaker

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—A government witness at the trial of 13 Puerto Rican nationalists testified today that he and another member of the Puerto Rican Nationalist party were once assigned to assassinate former Rep. Fred L. Crawford (R-Mich.).

Guillermo Hernandez Vega, 23, a woodworker, told Judge Lawrence E. Walsh and a jury in Federal Court the assassination was to take place in April 1950, when Crawford visited Puerto Rico.

However, Hernandez Vega testified, he and his companion reported to their Nationalist party boss they couldn't find Crawford.

The witness told the dramatic court session, "I tried to influence him (the companion) not to do it."

The 13 Puerto Ricans are charged with seditious conspiracy to overthrow the U.S. government by force and violence.

West Turns Down Russia's European Security Proposal

German-Austrian Problems Cited As Key To Big 4 Talks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today rejected Russia's proposal to join in a new European security setup but said a Big Four meeting might be arranged if progress is made on the German and Austrian problems.

The State Department released the text of its note to Russia to this effect and said identical messages were delivered by the British and French at Moscow also.

Effort To Wreck NATO?

These were in reply to Russia's July 24 and Aug. 4 communications calling for a European security arrangement involving both Communist and free world countries. The Russian move, which also called for a new Big Four conference, was regarded here as another effort to wreck the Western North Atlantic Treaty Organization and block rearmament of West Germany.

The American reply in effect repeated the U.S. view that nothing would be gained at a Big Four foreign ministers meeting as long as the East and West disagree on the future of Austria and Germany.

Giving Austria a peace treaty and restoring her sovereignty is "the simplest step toward the promotion of European security," the American note said.

Free Elections First Step

The American government remains ready, it added, to negotiate for early free elections in Germany as an "essential first step toward German reunification in freedom."

There is no use discussing these problems, already weighed at length during the Berlin conference last winter, unless "there is a better prospect of finding solutions than was revealed" at Berlin or in subsequent communications, the note said.

It expressed the hope that Russia would sign the Austrian treaty version advanced by Russia at the Berlin conference, but without attaching any strings. This was a renewal of the American offer at Berlin to accept the Soviet text. However, the Russians switched at Berlin to such contingencies as an all-European settlement and a German peace treaty before the Austrian pact could become effective.

Film Corporation Fights State Ban On Word "Hell"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Maryland's Board of Motion Picture Censors has been given 22 days in which to show in court why their ban on the use of the word "hell" from a movie should not be reversed.

The word was ordered taken out of "On The Water Front," a Columbia Pictures Corp. release.

"Hell," the censors ruled, is indecent under Maryland law. The movie firm argues the word is not indecent or even vulgar.

New York May Escape Brunt Of Hurricane

East Coast Battens Down As 'Edna' Picks Up Speed And Power

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Hurricane Edna picked up speed tonight on a course that would side-swipe New York and land its full fury on New England—an area still recuperating from disastrous hurricane Carol.

Edna, a lumbering monster with 125 m.p.h. winds, was off Cape Hatteras, N. C., tonight and moving north-northeast at 17 to 22 m.p.h.

At 6:36 p.m., the Boston Weather Bureau issued this grim warning: "Hurricane Edna is increasing in forward speed towards New England. It is expected to hit the southern New England coast with full force soon after daybreak Saturday . . .

"This is a more powerful storm than hurricane Carol and immediate precautions should be taken over Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island for abnormally high tides and hurricane winds."

"Evacuation from low lands near coast should be made before tomorrow morning."

Relief Agencies Alerted

Agencies which were still picking up and mending in the wake of Carol, which 11 days ago took 68 lives and caused millions of dollars in property damage to New England, were alerted to an emergency basis for the new and even more powerful blow.

New York City also ordered its hospitals, subways and other departments on an emergency status as the nation's largest city was told to expect dangerous winds regardless of the hurricane's actual path.

At 7 p.m. the New York Weather Bureau predicted Edna would pass about 20 to 25 miles east of the eastern tip of Long Island—or about 150 miles east of Times Square.

Earlier, Asst. Meteorologist James M. Osmun had said it "will be a miracle if hurricane Edna does not hit New York City head-on tomorrow." A subsequent notice showed the storm turning slightly to the east.

Tension Grips Coast

Tension gripped the coast from Cape Hatteras to Maine. For Edna—the season's fifth Atlantic hurricane and named after the fifth letter of the alphabet—applied bore a woman's name. She maintained the prerogative of changing her mind.

The American Automobile Assn. advised motorists to keep off East Coast routes between Washington and Connecticut while the storm churned up the coast.

The 6:36 p.m. advisory showed Edna had picked up seven to 12 miles per hour in speed since the 2 p.m. warning. The later notice said winds near the center were 125 m.p.h. and hurricane force winds extended out from the center 150 miles to the east and 80 miles to the west.

Gale winds covered an area of 300 miles or more.

Planes, Ships Moved

The entire naval districts covering New England, New York and New Jersey were alerted to expect winds of up to 115 miles an hour in the next 24 hours.

Along the New Jersey and Long Island shores the sea was rough and storm-wyved residents reported the skies "grey and eerie." Beaches were deserted. Fishing fleets and small boats were lashed with extra lines and sought every possible corner of safety.

Military and naval planes were flown inland — as far as Buffalo, N.Y., and points in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Some 80 ships moved out of the Norfolk Naval Base. The battleship Iowa, the cruiser Juneau and the carriers Saipan and Mindoro departed Hampton Roads to ride out the storm at sea. Most of the other vessels moved up Chesapeake Bay to the Navy's hurricane anchorage just South of Tangier Island.

Nationalists Continue To Blast China Coast

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Nationalists bombed and shelled the Chinese Communist coast opposite Formosa yesterday for the fifth straight day still unchallenged by the Red air force.

The Defense Ministry said that once more the main target was the Amoy area, where batteries and forts have been plastered by air bombs, artillery and the shells of Nationalist warships.

Amoy is only 7 miles from the Nationalist island redoubt of Quemoy, 120 miles across Formosa Strait from Formosa.

The late President's son sent out word he was in the fight to a finish. He emphasized it by saying he would not settle for second place—the nomination for lieutenant governor—at the Sept. 21-22 convention in New York.

Roosevelt's hopes of winning despite opposition of four of the state's most influential party leaders were boosted today when the CIO state convention in Albany endorsed his candidacy for the state's top post.

Roosevelt had backing also from some powerful upstate Democratic leaders, such as Daniel P. O'Connell, of Albany. But he still had a stiff, uphill fight in his quest for the governor's chair once occupied by his father on the latter's route to the White House.

Lodge Assails Soviet Attacks On U. S. Planes

Challenges Moscow To Put Bomber Case Before World Court

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—American Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. accused the Soviet Union today of a "pattern of unprovoked attacks" on American planes since 1950. He declared they must not go unchallenged.

In a speech to the U.N. Security Council, Lodge said the downing of an American bomber Sept. 4 with the loss of one American was the latest in this series. He called on the Soviet Union to go before the International Court of Justice for a settlement or accept some other means of peaceful adjustment.

Lodge cited six other incidents in which American planes were shot down by Soviet planes from the Baltic Sea almost to Alaska. All told, 28 lives were lost in these attacks, he said, and 16 persons were missing.

Lodge Lists Incidents

Lodge listed the incidents as follows:

"On April 8, 1950, an unarmed United States aircraft was shot down by Soviet aircraft in the Baltic Sea. In this attack 10 American lives were lost.

"On Nov. 6, 1951, an American weather aircraft was shot down by a Soviet aircraft in the Sea of Japan with a loss of 10 lives.

"On Nov. 19, 1951, a Soviet fighter forced an unarmed American plane down onto a Hungarian airfield. The four-man crew of this aircraft was held for ransom.

"On Oct. 7, 1952, an American B29 was shot down near Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan. Eight lives were lost.

"On March 15, 1953, an American aircraft was attacked without warning while en route from Alaska to Japan with no loss of life; the attacking Soviet planes were beaten off.

Vishinsky Ridicules Charge

"On July 29, 1953, an American B50, on a peaceful mission over the Sea of Japan, was shot down without warning; 16 members of that crew are still missing. The pilot was rescued and told the details of the ruthless attack by the Soviet aircraft."

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, just back from home leave during which he dined with Prime Minister Malenkov, ridiculed the American charges that Red MIGs shot down a U.S. Navy Neptune bomber off the coast of Siberia last week. He said the American plane fired first and said the U.S. case did "not hold water." His answer showed the Russians have no intention of going to the international court.

Soviets Launch Big CD Program

By TOM WHITNEY

Associated Press Foreign Staff

The leading Soviet paper has announced the U.S.S.R. is now carrying out a nationwide program for training the entire population of the country in air raid precautions.

Pravda in a front-page editorial discussed the activities of the mass membership Soviet civil defense organization known as DOSAAF—from the initials of the Russian words for "Voluntary Society for Assistance to the Army, Aviation and Navy."

Declared the editorial: "The preparation of the entire population for up-to-date air raid and chemical-warfare defense... must be given priority."

This is the first indication that the Soviet government is undertaking a public nationwide campaign for air raid training. Until a year ago inside Russia certain air raid precautions were being taken—but only on a secret and semi-secret basis. For instance, in Moscow certain apartment houses—though the tenants did not know it—had shelter areas designated.

Southern Belle Wins Swim Suit Honors

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Polly Rankin Suber, Miss South Carolina, won tonight's bathing suit preliminary in the Miss America contest.

The blonde southern belle strutted down the Convention Hall ramp in a black swim suit to take the nod from the judges.

West Turns Down Russia's European Security Proposal

German-Austrian Problems Cited As Key To Big 4 Talks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today rejected Russia's proposal to join in a new European security setup but said a Big Four meeting might be arranged if progress is made on the German and Austrian problems.

The State Department released the text of its note to Russia to this effect and said identical messages were delivered by the British and French at Moscow also.

Effort To Wreck NATO?

These were in reply to Russia's July 24 and Aug. 4 communications calling for a European security arrangement involving both Communist and free world countries. The Russian move, which also called for a new Big Four conference, was regarded here as another effort to wreck the Western North Atlantic Treaty Organization and block rearmament of West Germany.

The American reply in effect repeated the U.S. view that nothing would be gained at a Big Four foreign ministers meeting as long as the East and West disagree on the future of Austria and Germany.

Giving Austria a peace treaty and restoring her sovereignty is "the simplest step toward the promotion of European security," the American note said.

Free Elections First Step

The American government remains ready, it added, to negotiate for early free elections in Germany as an "essential first step toward German reunification in freedom."

There is no use discussing these problems, already weighed at length during the Berlin conference last winter, unless "there is a better prospect of finding solutions than was revealed" at Berlin or in subsequent communications, the note said.

It expressed the hope that Russia would sign the Austrian treaty version advanced by Russia at the Berlin conference, but without attaching any strings. This was a renewal of the American offer at Berlin to accept the Soviet text. However, the Russians switched at Berlin to such contingencies as an all-European settlement and a German peace treaty before the Austrian pact could become effective.

Film Corporation Fights State Ban On Word 'Hell'

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Maryland's Board of Motion Picture Censors has been given 22 days in which to show in court why their ban on the use of the word "hell" from a movie should not be reversed.

The word was ordered taken out of "On The Water Front," a Columbia Pictures Corp. release.

"Hell," the censors ruled, is indecent under Maryland law. The movie firm argues the word is not indecent or even vulgar.

Puerto Rican Reveals 1950 Plot To Kill Ex-Lawmaker

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—A government witness at the trial of 13 Puerto Rican nationalists testified today that he and another member of the Puerto Rican Nationalist party were once assigned to assassinate former Rep. Fred L. Crawford (R-Mich.).

Guillermo Hernandez Vega, 23, a woodworker, told Judge Lawrence E. Walsh and a jury in Federal Court the assassination was to take place in April 1950, when Crawford visited Puerto Rico.

However, Hernandez Vega testified, he and his companion reported to their Nationalist party boss they couldn't find Crawford.

The witness told the dramatic court session, "I tried to influence him (the companion) not to do it."

The 13 Puerto Ricans are charged with seditious conspiracy to overthrow the U.S. government by force and violence.

Hernandez Vega testified the assassination order was issued to him and his unnamed companion by "Vitoria," whom he described as "chief executive of the revolutionaries of Puerto Rico."

The witness said Vitoria ordered them in Arecibo, P.R., to go to Ponce, kill Crawford and return.

However, he said, instead of going to the house where Crawford was staying, the two men spent some time in a plaza in Ponce and then returned to Vitoria and reported they couldn't find the congressman.

Crawford in 1950 was ranking Republican member of the House Insular Affairs Committee.

He visited the island during that period and played an important role in getting congressional approval to the Puerto Rican constitution setting up the commonwealth.

New York May Escape Brunt Of Hurricane

East Coast Battens Down As 'Edna' Picks Up Speed And Power

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Hurricane Edna picked up speed tonight on a course that would side-sweep New York and land its full fury on New England—an area still recuperating from disastrous hurricane Carol.

Edna, a lumbering monster with 125 m.p.h. winds, was off Cape Hatteras, N. C., tonight and moving north-northeast at 17 to 22 m.p.h.

At 6:36 p.m., the Boston Weather Bureau issued this grim warning: "Hurricane Edna is increasing in forward speed towards New England. It is expected to hit the southern New England coast with full force soon after daybreak Saturday..."

"This is a more powerful storm than hurricane Carol and immediate precautions should be taken over Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island for abnormally high tides and hurricane winds."

"Evacuation from low lands near coast should be made before tomorrow morning."

Relief Agencies Alerted

Agencies which were still picking up and mending in the wake of Carol, which 11 days ago took 68 lives and caused millions of dollars in property damage to New England, were alerted to an emergency basis for the new and even more powerful blow.

New York City also ordered its hospitals, subways and other departments on an emergency status as the nation's largest city was told to expect dangerous winds regardless of the hurricane's actual path.

At 7 p.m. the New York Weather Bureau predicted Edna would pass about 20 to 25 miles east of the eastern tip of Long Island—or about 150 miles east of Times Square.

Earlier, Asst. Meteorologist James M. Osmun had said it "will be a miracle if hurricane Edna does not hit New York City head-on tomorrow." A subsequent notice showed the storm turning slightly to the east.

Tension Grips Coast

Tension gripped the coast from Cape Hatteras to Maine. For Edna—the season's fifth Atlantic hurricane and named after the fifth letter of the alphabet—applied bore a woman's name. She maintained the prerogative of changing her mind.

The American Automobile Assn. advised motorists to keep off East Coast routes between Washington and Connecticut while the storm churned up the coast.

The 6:36 p.m. advisory showed Edna had picked up seven to 12 miles per hour in speed since the 2 p.m. warning. The later notice said winds near the center were 125 m.p.h. and hurricane force winds extended out from the center 150 miles to the east and 80 miles to the west.

Gale winds covered an area of 300 miles or more.

Planes, Ships Moved

The entire naval districts covering New England, New York and New Jersey were alerted to expect winds of up to 115 miles an hour in the next 24 hours.

Along the New Jersey and Long Island shores the sea was rough and storm-wise residents reported the skies "grey and eerie." Beaches were deserted. Fishing fleets and small boats were lashed with extra lines and sought every possible corner of safety.

Military and naval planes were flown inland — as far as Buffalo, N.Y., and points in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Some 80 ships moved out of the Norfolk Naval Base. The battleship Iowa, the cruiser Juneau and the carriers Saipan and Mindoro departed Hampton Roads to ride out the storm at sea. Most of the other vessels moved up Chesapeake Bay to the Navy's hurricane anchorage just South of Tangier Island.

Nationalists Continue To Blast China Coast

TAIPEH, Formosa, Saturday, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Nationalists bombed and shelled the Chinese Communist coast opposite Formosa yesterday for the fifth straight day still unchallenged by the Red air force.

The Defense Ministry said that once more the main target was the Amoy area, where batteries and forts have been plastered by air bombs, artillery and the shells of Nationalist warships.

Amoy is only 7 miles from the Nationalist island redoubt of Quemoy, 120 miles across Formosa Strait from Formosa.

Sheppard Lawyers Argue For Release

Osteopath Accused Of Killing Wife Seeks His Freedom On Bail

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10 (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, pale and tense, listened intently in a Common Pleas courtroom today as defense attorneys argued that he should be released on bail until his trial on a first degree murder charge.

His attorneys called four witnesses in a two-hour session before Judge Edward Blythin, who adjourned the hearing at 5 p.m. until 9:15 a.m. tomorrow.

The handsome, 30-year-old osteopath, his left cheek twitching almost constantly and his fingers frequently clasped until the knuckles showed white, appeared to weep at one point during the hearing, dabbing his eyes with a handkerchief.

He is accused of bludgeoning his pregnant wife, Marilyn, to death last July 4. He has pleaded innocent and told police repeatedly his wife was killed by an intruder who knocked him unconscious when he went to her rescue.

His lawyers are attempting to show that the murder indictment against Sheppard is not a sufficient presumption of guilt. If they succeed, Ohio law provides that a defendant in a capital case is entitled to bail "unless the proof is evident or the presumption great."

Arrested July 30, Sheppard won one day's freedom on $50,000 bail just prior to his indictment by a grand jury Aug. 17. No date has been set for his trial, but informed guesses are it will not open for at least a month.

Tears seemed to come to Sheppard's eyes while one of his Bay Village neighbors, 41-year-old, gray-haired Donald Ahern, described a dinner he and his wife had at the Sheppards the night before the slaying.

Ahern, the second witness called, said he remembered that, "We had homemade berry pie. I'm almost sure Marilyn made it. It was a favorite of Sam's."

Forty states competed for honors this season in the first annual national tennis tournament staged by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Probe May Determine Who Linked Legion's Name To Cohn Dinner

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Baltimore district council of the American Legion has approved a resolution asking an investigation to determine who authorized use of the Legion's name as a co-sponsor of a dinner for Roy M. Cohn.

The Maryland Action Guild, the Minute Women of Maryland and the Maryland Constitutionalists are now the sponsors of the testimonial to the former aide of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.)

The Legion withdrew its sponsorship yesterday.

Former State Commander Benjamin L. Wolfson proposed that the investigation be undertaken.

Wolfson said the Legion will always be an aggressive foe of communism, but asked if the organization might not be spreading itself thin through involvement in affairs which distract from its basic program.

MORGANTON, N.C., Sept. 9 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell charged tonight the Eisenhower administration's Dixon-Yates power contract amounts to multimillion-dollar favoritism "that violates every rule of fair play and of good management of the public's business."

Mitchell addressed a Democratic rally here after telling a news conference earlier in Richmond, Va., that the power contract would be an important and growing issue in the fall congressional election campaigns.

He told newsmen the power contract was President Eisenhower's doing and, "I'm going to keep on challenging it."

A private utility combine, known as the Dixon-Yates group, is negotiating a contract to supply electric power over lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority to the Memphis Tenn., area. This energy would replace power supplied by TVA to the Atomic Energy Commission for use at the Paducah, Ky., atomic plant.

Destitute Family Envies Pup With Big Food Supply

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10 (AP)—A Wisconsin family of eight envies its new mongrel pup. He, at least, has a year's supply of food.

Joe McGovern's six youngsters won the dog and the mountain of dog food on a Hollywood radio show yesterday afternoon. But the family hadn't had a square meal since hitting town two weeks ago.

McGovern, 43, told a reporter he owned an appliance shop and a seven-room house in Milwaukee a little more than a year ago. Then a windstorm unroofed his store and damaged $120,000 worth of unsold merchandise.

Next he fell ill, the family savings were used up and the bank foreclosed on their home. McGovern loaded his wife Lillian, 38, and the children, Jerry, 11; Bobby, 10; Kenneth 9; Kathleen, 5; Bimbo, 2, and Patrick, 16 months, into a 15-year-old car and started with $185 for Los Angeles. He had worked here as a sound technician in 1945.

Most of the money went to nurse the wheezing car across the country. McGovern got two days' work here as a house painter. Then he sold parts of the car to feed his family.

The family was preparing to bed down in the car last night when a newsman arrived. Staked to a motel cabin and grocery money, McGovern said the pup would be called Lucky. Today he's looking for a job.

Rain Helps Improve U. S. Crop Picture

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that crops recovered slightly from drought during September as rains came to some parched areas.

The over-all increase in the prospective volume of production was about 1 per cent.

Much of the increase was in corn, soy beans and hay in the Midwest corn belt.

However, the gains in the Midwest were partially offset by deterioration of cotton, peanuts and some other late-growing crops in the less favored areas, particularly in the South and Southwest.

1,000 Small Birds Apparently Suicides

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—An estimated 1,000 or more small songbirds were found dead today—apparently suicides—on the parking lots of Friendship International Airport.

Game Warden Fielder Crawford said it looked as if the birds had flown into a 2,000,000 candle power light which shines upward from the ground level to show the cloud ceiling to incoming pilots.

He added autopsies would be performed on several of the birds to rule out the chance they may have eaten bugs sprayed by some powerful insecticide.

Bandits Thwarted By Quick Thinking

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 10 (AP)—Things had been pretty quiet around Ivan Scorgins' filling station early today until two hood-up men entered and demanded money at pistol point.

Quick-thinking Ivan replied that he had just been held up a few minutes earlier and "the law is on its way now to investigate."

The last—and only—bandits Ivan had seen fled precipitately.

Testimony Completed In Vote-Buying Probe

CENTREVILLE, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—The Queen Anne's County Grand Jury finished hearing witnesses today in its investigation of charges of vote-buying in the June 28 primary election and agreed to meet again Monday at 10 a.m.

Presumably, the jury will decide at that time whether any indictments are in order.

Attorney Hyman Pressman of Baltimore, acting for George P. Mahoney, brought the charges that votes were bought in the election. Mahoney lost the Democratic nomination for governor to H.C. Byrd in the primary, marked by post-election recounts and law suits.

De Castries Arrives In Paris Unheralded

PARIS, Sept. 10 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, the commander of the Indochina fortress of Dien Bien Phu, arrived in Paris unheralded today on what he described as a strictly private trip.

He traveled incognito from Saigon. There was no official reception at the airport, where he had to wait for his wife, Jacqueline, because his plane ran almost two hours ahead of schedule.

De Castries said he would return to Indochina in a few days and come back to Paris "officially" in two weeks.

Cop Killer Given 18-Year Term

SNOW HILL, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—Russell Regina, 30-year-old Cambridge, Md., man accused of slaying a policeman, was found guilty of second degree murder at his second trial today and sentenced to 18 years in prison.

Regina was first convicted in the killing of Patrolman Daniel C. Bier last November.

But the three judges of the First Judicial Circuit, W. Laird Henry, the chief, and his associates, E. MacMaster Duer and Rex A. Taylor, granted a new trial in a decision announced last April.

Judge Henry acknowledged in the April decision that the court erred in the November trial in talking to the foreman of the jury, Russell P. Cropper, without consulting attorneys for the defense or prosecution.

Judge Henry acknowledged he answered Cropper when the latter asked if Regina could be paroled should he be given a life sentence. Today's trial, by agreement of counsel, was based on the record of the November trial.

Mrs. Hicks Again Quizzed By Grand Jury

LA PLATA, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Hicks, widow of a paralyzed veteran whose death may have been a murder, made another appearance in her Marathon session before a Charles County Grand Jury today.

She was with the group investigating the death of Lewis Hicks of Port Tobacco from 10:30 a.m. until 12:55 p.m.

The session brought to eight hours and 45 minutes the total length of time she has been before the jury.

State's Attorney Robert T. Barbour said the jurors would meet again tomorrow at 10 a.m. and Mrs. Hicks would again be asked to appear.

Barbour said he did not see how the jury could finish with Mrs. Hicks tomorrow, but added there would probably be no session "if it can be avoided." on Monday, which is Defenders' Day and a legal holiday in Maryland.

Hicks was found dead in his car which crashed into his Charles County home last March 28. Police reversed their earlier stand that Hicks' death was accidental when they found the throttle of the car had been taped open.

Mrs. Hicks, who told police she was with her husband in the accident, sustained minor injuries.

She left here shortly after the death of her husband to live in Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Hicks was ordered to appear before the grand jury under the uniform witnesses act. The order guarantees her immunity from arrest during the time she is to testify.

She was dressed in a bright red dress with white trimming today. She appeared self-contained and cheerful.

1,000 Small Birds Apparently Suicides

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—An estimated 1,000 or more small songbirds were found dead today—apparently suicides—on the parking lots of Friendship International Airport.

Game Warden Fielder Crawford said it looked as if the birds had flown into a 2,000,000 candle power light which shines upward from the ground level to show the cloud ceiling to incoming pilots.

He added autopsies would be performed on several of the birds to rule out the chance they may have eaten bugs sprayed by some powerful insecticide.

Bandits Thwarted By Quick Thinking

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 10 (AP)—Things had been pretty quiet around Ivan Scorgins' filling station early today until two hoodlums entered and demanded money at pistol point.

Quick-thinking Ivan replied that he had just been held up a few minutes earlier and "the law is on its way now to investigate."

The last—and only—bandits Ivan had seen fled precipitately.

Testimony Completed In Vote-Buying Probe

CENTREVILLE, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—The Queen Anne's County Grand Jury finished hearing witnesses today in its investigation of charges of vote-buying in the June 28 primary election and agreed to meet again Monday at 10 a.m.

Presumably, the jury will decide at that time whether any indictments are in order.

Attorney Hyman Pressman of Baltimore, acting for George P. Mahoney, brought the charges that votes were bought in the election. Mahoney lost the Democratic nomination for governor to H.C. Byrd in the primary, marked by post-election recounts and law suits.

He traveled incognito from Saigon. There was no official reception at the airport, where he had to wait for his wife, Jacqueline, because his plane ran almost two hours ahead of schedule.

De Castries said he would return to Indochina in a few days and come back to Paris "officially" in two weeks.

Cop Killer Given 18-Year Term

SNOW HILL, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—Russell Regina, 30-year-old Cambridge, Md., man accused of slaying a policeman, was found guilty of second degree murder at his second trial today and sentenced to 18 years in prison.

Regina was first convicted in the killing of Patrolman Daniel C. Bier last November.

But the three judges of the First Judicial Circuit, W. Laird Henry, the chief, and his associates, E. MacMaster Duer and Rex A. Taylor, granted a new trial in a decision announced last April.

Judge Henry acknowledged in the April decision that the court erred in the November trial in talking to the foreman of the jury, Russell P. Cropper, without consulting attorneys for the defense or prosecution.

Judge Henry acknowledged he answered Cropper when the latter asked if Regina could be paroled should he be given a life sentence.

Today's trial, by agreement of counsel, was based on the record of the November trial.

Brazilian Making Study Of Tucker County Forest

PARSONS — Jorge Gerhardt Faria Santos, an employee of the government in Brazil, working with the Soils and Agriculture Department, has been spending three weeks in this area making a study of the methods and management of the Fearnow Experimental Forest located near Hambleton. The experimental forest is in the Cheat District of the Monongahela National Forest.

He has been in the United States since September, 1953, and has been in all of the states east of the Mississippi, except Rhode Island and Kentucky. He has been studying the methods of logging, forest management, fire fighting, nursery work and re-forestation in various forests located in Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming for the last year and will prepare to return to his native country in September from Washington, D. C., to take his new findings back to Brazil.

Santos, who is 29, is from Victoria, E. Espirito Santo, Brazil, and was graduated from Escola Superior de Escola de Minas Gerais in Vicosia, Brazil, in 1946, majoring in Agricultural and soil work.

On January 2, 1947, he accepted a position with the government in extension work. In January, 1949, he was invited to be State Forester, the position he now holds. In reviewing his work he related that government employees in Brazil may retire after 35 years of service with full pay, regardless of their age. The department also grants the employees eleven paid holidays each year.

When asked about differences in our schools, he said that he went to high school the same as we do. In his country several types of ownership are found — state, private, church and others. All of them are regularly inspected by federal inspectors and there is only one program for high school in Brazil, the one prepared by the ministry of Health and Education. English, French and Latin are required in high school, in addition their own language, Portuguese.

Santos, speaks the English language very fluently and when asked the differences in his country's ways of living as contrasted to ours, he said that it is very similar, in that people residing in the various parts of the United States have the way of living according to climatic conditions and habits.

He was very much impressed with several scenic views of the United States he has seen during his visits.

When asked about the price of coffee Santos quickly answered that their price is also high at the present time. That condition is brought about because Brazil has no price control. When coffee exports at a high price, their countrymen must also pay a high price, even though he lives in the third largest coffee producing area in Brazil.

Clothing, most foods, and necessities are much cheaper in Brazil than in the U. S., but appliances we consider necessities such as washing machines, refrigerators, and radios are extreme luxuries to them and are purchased at a very high price.

Santos was a guest at several picnics and he told that they were very similar to the ones that he participated in in his native country. He also participated in the old fashioned custom of playing horseshoes and base ball.

The most popular sport in Brazil, according to Santos, is soccer. The largest stadium in the world has been built in the city of Rio de Janeiro for this game. Volleyball, basketball, tennis, swimming, water polo, and track are also very popular.

New Highway To Be Opened

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—A new part of the Washington National Pike, 3.7 miles in Montgomery County, will be opened next Wednesday.

The Roads Commission announced today that Gov. McKelvin will cut the ribbon at opening ceremonies at 10:30 a. m. Sept. 15, at the intersection of the pike and Maryland 118, the Germantown road.

The new section is located between Maryland 121 near Clarksburg and Maryland 118 near Brink. Its completion will make a little more than 16 miles of the dual lane highway in use. Construction started near Frederick several years ago and is now around half the distance between Frederick and Washington.

The Roads Commission has 5.4 more miles of the southward extension under construction and last week contracted for another three miles. That will bring the super-highway almost to Rockville and about 10 miles from the District of Columbia line.

Both the new sections should be open by the end of the 1955 season.

Brazilian Making Study Of Tucker County Forest

PARSONS — Jorge Gerhardt Faria Santos, an employee of the government in Brazil, working with the Soils and Agriculture Department, has been spending three weeks in this area making a study of the methods and management of the Farnow Experimental Forest located near Hambleton. The experimental forest is in the Chest District of the Monongahela National Forest.

He has been in the United States since September, 1953, and has been in all of the states east of the Mississippi, except Rhode Island and Kentucky. He has been studying the methods of logging, forest management, fire fighting, nursery work and re-forestation in various forests located in Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming for the last year and will prepare to return to his native country in September from Washington, D. C., to take his new findings back to Brazil.

Santos, who is 29, is from Victoria, E. Espirito Santo, Brazil, and was graduated from Escola Superior de Escola de Minas Gerais in Vicosia, Brazil, in 1946, majoring in Agricultural and soil work.

On January 2, 1947, he accepted a position with the government in extension work. In January, 1949, he was invited to be State Forester, the position he now holds. In reviewing his work he related that government employees in Brazil may retire after 35 years of service with full pay, regardless of their age. The department also grants the employees eleven paid holidays each year.

When asked about differences in our schools, he said that he went to high school the same as we do. In his country several types of ownership are found — state, private, church and others. All of them are regularly inspected by federal inspectors and there is only one program for high school in Brazil, the one prepared by the ministry of Health and Education. English, French and Latin are required in high school, in addition their own language, Portuguese.

Santos, speaks the English language very fluently and when asked the differences in his country's ways of living as contrasted to ours, he said that it is very similar, in that people residing in the various parts of the United States have the way of living according to climatic conditions and habits.

He was very much impressed with several scenic views of the United States he has seen during his visits.

When asked about the price of coffee Santos quickly answered that their price is also high at the present time. That condition is brought about because Brazil has no price control. When coffee exports at a high price, their countrymen must also pay a high price, even though he lives in the third largest coffee producing area in Brazil.

Clothing, most foods, and necessities are much cheaper in Brazil than in the U. S., but appliances we consider necessities such as washing machines, refrigerators, and radios are extreme luxuries to them and are purchased at a very high price.

Santos was a guest at several picnics and he told that they were very similar to the ones that he participated in in his native country. He also participated in the old fashioned custom of playing horseshoes and base ball.

The most popular sport in Brazil, according to Santos, is soccer. The largest stadium in the world has been built in the city of Rio de Janeiro for this game. Volleyball, basketball, tennis, swimming, water polo, and track are also very popular.

New Highway To Be Opened

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) — A new part of the Washington National Pike, 3.7 miles in Montgomery County, will be opened next Wednesday.

The Roads Commission announced today that Gov. McKeldin will cut the ribbon at opening ceremonies at 10:30 a. m. Sept. 15, at the intersection of the pike and Maryland 118, the Germantown road.

The new section is located between Maryland 121 near Clarksburg and Maryland 118 near Brink. Its completion will make a little more than 16 miles of the dual lane highway in use. Construction started near Frederick several years ago and is now around half the distance between Fredrick and Washington.

The Roads Commission has 5.4 more miles of the southward extension under construction and last week contracted for another three miles. That will bring the super-highway almost to Rockville and about 10 miles from the District of Columbia line.

Both the new sections should be open by the end of the 1955 season.

PARSONS, W. Va.—The ninth annual Hambleton Homecoming was held Sunday afternoon at the Goff Memorial Church, with Darwin Chase, of Akron, Ohio, a native of Hambleton, crowning Miss Ellen James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle James, as Queen Ellen VI.

Members of the queen's court included Miss Wanda Rizer as maid of honor; Deloris Small, Hope Hymes, Madonna Chambers, Pearl Ann Parks, Sandra James, Jane Bennett, Jennie Dilly, Jane Stemple, Karen Tusing, and Barbara Plum were princesses. Escorts were Clyde Pennington, William Dilly, Roy Rhoades, Frank Mullennex, Charles Sturms, Clifford Pine, Don Goff, Jerry Newman, Charles Shields, Daniel Hockman, William Hanlin, and Victor Vachon.

The crown-bearer was James Edgar Smith III, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Hambleton. Flower girls were Janet Fansler, Phyllis Griffith, Sue Strawderman, and Linda Rossier.

Mrs. Linda Rossier played the Processional and Recessional for the Queen and her Court as they entered and left the church. Earl Corcoran, principal of Parsons High School, was master of ceremonies and introduced Rev. H. L. Alley, Altoona, Pa., who gave the invocation and benediction.

If there had been a real sequence of touching honors among them, West would have led from such a combination. Since, however, he led a low card, it was virtually certain his honor strength was elsewhere and he did not want to jeopardize it by leading from it. His desire, therefore, was that East lead toward his honors. The most cursory glance at the dummy would have shown where they were most likely to be, clubs. So East should have returned that suit. If he had, the two prompt club tricks would have doomed the contract.

There are even times a defender should shift against a No Trump. If West had led a diamond against a 3-No Trump contract by South, what East saw in dummy should have told him not to return the suit, but to shift to a club, doubling the contract. Only if West led his club 4 against a No Trump should East return the suit—hopelessly.

Your Week-end Question Suppose you have a powerful hand, not quite strong enough for a game—contains three suits of four-cards each, but which could not be expected to score a game unless your partner held some slight bit of strength of one kind or another. What is the best way to find out if he has that bit of strength and where it is? In other words, what is your best opening bid in it?

DAILY BRIDGE LESSON by Barclay
REVERSE OF NO TRUMPS
DEFENSE against a trump contract can be in some respects the reverse of that against a No Trump. The old-time rule for No Trump defense, when a low card had been led by your partner, and you obtained the lead, was to "return your partner's suit." In similar circumstances—that is, with a low card lead against a suit bid—the better guide would be "don't return your partner's suit." Why? Because ordinarily, against a suit contract, a player will not underlead any honors he holds. He would rather have you lead toward them, so they may have maximum trick-taking value.

Symbol Of Cruelty Stands In Moscow

Columbus discovered America in 1492, an achievement for which his memory is hardly honored in Soviet Russia. But Moscow in 1492 was less interested in Columbus than in the completion that year of the walls surrounding the Kremlin.

Those walls still stand. They saw the reigns of Ivan the Terrible and Peter the Great and Catherine the Great and all the later czars, great or terrible or weak, down to the last Nicholas. Then Lenin the great moved behind their walls, and Stalin the terrible. When Stalin died a year and a half ago, the 1492 walls guarded the fat body of Malenkov, who has not yet been labeled terrible or great, and Krushchev, who may yet seize the No. 1 spot in Russia.

It was strange that the Bolsheviks who liquidated the czars should have kept the Kremlin, that symbol of czarist tyranny whose walls guarded rulers from the anger of their oppressed people. Perhaps Lenin, who must have believed that he was ushering in Utopia, thought it didn't matter.

But Stalin, perhaps Russia's cruelist ruler, might well have made his home and office in quarters that were less prone to emphasize his similarity to the bloodiest of the czars. Why didn't he? He valued his own skin, as his phobic purges show, and inside the Kremlin is the safest place in Russia.

His successors, in power a year and a half, have shown a better sense of public relations. Malenkov and Krushchev have moved out of their Kremlin apartments, and are progressively transferring more and more government business to other areas. The Kremlin, which had been harder for visitors to get in and out of than an American prison, is to be opened to the public; and if it is ever bombed, the main casualties will be a few sightseers and the harmless shades of ancient and outmoded amateur tyrants.

Today its golden domes, surrounded by their triangular mile and a half of wall, still stand. Its former occupants may transact their business in modern skyscrapers, but the world still fears them, and the Kremlin is still the symbol of their cruelty and their power.

These Days

On Senility

It would seem that thus far one of the principal charges against Senator Joe McCarthy before the Watkins Committee is that he is a harsh, gruff man whose selectivity of words is inadequate to conform with senatorial etiquette. He is said to use base and degrading language about his colleagues. In a word, he is accused of being something of a boor in very polite society. He calls other senators bad names; he has not yet been accused of sticking out his tongue, which he well might do.

The worst word he used is apparently senile. He has been accused of calling Senator Ralph Flanders senile. He is also being accused of referring to other senators in language to which Marines but not senators are accustomed. He is accused of saying that one, Hendrickson of New Jersey, had no guts. Guts is an ugly word. Joe should have used the word, colon, but nobody would have known what he meant, except those whose colon is a problem to them. He might have said that Hendrickson lacked a colon. He might also have used the word, derma, which some people stuff with a mixture of suet, flour and spices and then eat.

As to the senility of Senator Flanders, that is a measurable matter. It is possible to determine medically whether the senator from Vermont or any other senator possesses faculties which have so degenerated that no longer is he able to employ them adequately. Age has nothing to do with it. Herbert Hoover at 80 is younger, to my certain knowledge, than he was at 60. Bernard Baruch at 84 is so active that he tires out his friends. Mrs. Fritz Kreisler at 85 can argue a younger man to a standstill.

However and alas, there comes a time when the blood vessels do pinch off from too much cholesterol or for some other reason and there can be a limp or a twitch or just a plain loss of the capacity for prolonged celebration. I once knew a statesman—let him be nameless—who could only work two or three hours a day and then he would fall asleep. The world regarded him as a great man; his secret was well-kept by those who did his thinking for him.

The Watkins Committee called in two Associated Press reporters to prove that Joe said naughty things about his colleagues. They should have called us all in and we might testify as to what most senators say about their colleagues, but not for publication.

The trouble with Joe is that he talks too much for publication and often too truthfully. Had he studied the technique of Talleyrand, who was one of history's really great statesmen, he would have learned perhaps that public men speak the whole truth only when they are alone with their consciences.

Senility is a harsh word and I now understand Senator Flanders' pursuing anger. The fear, with all of us, is that it might be true. On the other hand, it may only be hyperinsulinism, the favorite new ailment which is very expensive and therefore important. It is much cheaper to buy a mink coat than to fight hyperinsulinism. Or it may be a creeping forgetfulness. Or it may be nothing more than pains and aches from brittleness and calcium deposits. Who can really tell but a physician or a psychiatrist?

Men do grow old, some of them at a very early age. A class reunion is the most unhappy of all events, after the 25th year, because nobody can really look and act as old as the other fellow. Many of my classmates are grandfathers and revel in being patriarchs. Perhaps even more distressing is to permit curiosity to drive you to have lunch with the girl you left behind a quarter of a century ago. And all the time you wonder whether she thinks the same about you. It is sad to grow venerable, except in an older China where the ancient ones were respected for being so.

And thus, we come back to Joe. Maybe he should be censured for calling Flanders senile. He should have been more polite to the duffer Republican. All he may say is that the old duffer . . . but who am I to put words in an Irish Marine's mouth?

Free World Is Now Living In "Era Of Make-Believe"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—This period in history will probably be described some day as the era of make-believe—when governments and peoples of the free world simply refused to be realistic about what was happening all around them.

When, for example, the Korean War broke out in June 1950, the world was assured that the "police action"—as President Truman called it—would be over in a short time.

When it ended after three years of fighting, the world was assured in glowing terms that aggression had been "repelled" and communism had suffered a setback.

Predictions were widely published in the press by realistic observers that, after the armistice was signed, the military energies of the Communists would be turned toward Indochina. Solemn warnings were issued by the United States Government that this must not be permitted to go unchallenged if it happened.

But the Communists disregarded all warnings and stepped up the war in Indochina. The French and British governments favored appeasement and left America isolated. When the Indochina armistice was signed, there was another wave of satisfaction by the pollyanna spokesmen of governments that at last the world was going to see an end of fighting.

The Republican campaign strategists in the United States then began making films about how peaceful the world had become and how much credit was due the Eisenhower administration for having ushered in a new epoch of tranquility.

But the Communists haven't stopped fighting. They now have started another war—this time against Formosa.

Again there is a disposition throughout the free world to minimize it as just a few raids in and around a few small islands.

First of all, an American naval patrol plane is shot down on the high seas by Soviet fighter planes well off the coast of Siberia. Then there are reports of attacks on Formosa by Communist planes. And now the dispatches tell how the Chinese Nationalist air force dumped rockets and bombs on the Communist-held Amoy Island and the nearby mainland coast.

As many as 100 jet planes have been engaged at one time in the raids off the coast of China and the word is that the Soviet navy is moving some of its ships and submarines of the Moscow government.

Stymied In Asia
Coincidentally, the President of the United States, vacationing at marines into the area where the United States Seventh Fleet is also engaged in some maneuvering.

On top of this, the Security Council of the United Nations is called into session to discuss the attack on the American patrol plane by the Soviet air force. Since Soviet Russia is supposed to be a "peace-loving" member of the United Nations, there is expected to be some public debate about the aggressive Denver, Colorado, has summoned

Adlai Stevenson talks a good game of guff.

Stevie is like my old friend William Chinnings Bryan. He knows more about being president than being one.

I sat across the breakfast table from Bryan the day he died. It was in Dayton, Tenn., and we were there for the monkey trial. He had run against McKinley twice, against Teddy Roosevelt and against Bill Taft. Now he was down to monkeys.

Bill loved the sound of his own voice so much he was practicing so he could hear it twice.

He even ran against Woodrow Wilson. That was for the Democratic nomination in 1912. He didn't like the newspapermen much because we twisted his remarks like hemp in a rope-walk.

He never forgot a line I wrote around 1918. "The way to end the world conflict is to make Bryan secretary of war. Nothing Bill had charge of ever lasted very long."

When a rash develops the first impulse is to "put something on it." Many victims dash to the drug store for a salve or an ointment strong enough to "kill the infection." Meanwhile, well meaning friends or relatives offer a pet remedy that worked so well when they had a skin outbreak that "looked just like it."

This curbsome diagnosis and self-treatment, according to competent dermatologists, is responsible for a great deal of unnecessary suffering and costly medical bills. They refer to the problem as overtreatment, or therapeutic dermatitis. Minor inflammations and trivial eruptions are aggravated, little itches become big ones, and areas that were only slightly red swell and blister.

Many individuals are sensitive to antibiotics. When one of these products is applied, a simple rash becomes weeping eczema which may extend to cover the entire body. But this is not all. Home remedies and advertised concoctions frequently change the appearance of the original dermatitis so that the physician is unable to recognize it. This leads to wrong diagnoses, errors in treatment, and delay in cure.

Why is self-treatment so common? It is due mainly to the popular misconception that the skin will tolerate anything. In addition, some feel that the strongest medicine is best for a rash. The cosmetic aspect enters the picture; many persons become desperate when a blemish appears and will apply the first lotion or salve they find in the medicine cabinet or can buy at the drug store.

The skin is delicate and sensitive and takes less abuse than our internal organs. Application of a strong antiseptic to an irritated area is like pouring boiling water over a badly burned surface.

Those who must "put something on" should rely upon a mild or harmless substance like cornstarch, oatmeal, or calamine lotion. A bowl of cornstarch placed next to the bed, for example, can be dusted on the skin at intervals to control itching and burning. An ice bag or cold compress is an excellent substitute and will not aggravate the skin disorder.

Eczemas may be treated with poultices; one cup of Cream of Wheat, cooked to form a paste, is adequate for this purpose. When the eruption is more diffuse, an oatmeal bath (four cups of rolled oats to the tub of water) is soothing and helpful.

Avoid rubbing alcohol, cosmetics, soaps, and ointments containing

GEE!

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A neighbor of mine up in Mt. Kisco is H. Allen Smith, the funny man. Allen says he saw a little boy up there examining very closely a typical magazine photo of Marilyn Monroe, surrounded by slews of fan mail. M. M. was clad in what Allen refers to as "a lacy and revealing sort of shift." The little boy made no comment for some moments; then exclaimed, "Gee! I'll bet there were keep stamps on some of those letters!"

On a lake steamer in Scotland, a lovely young girl fell overboard. The waters were very choppy, and the girl had already gone under twice, when a middle-aged Scot, extremely well-dressed, kerplunked into the lake and dragged the girl aboard the steamer. The girl's father threw his arms around her drenched rescuer and enthused,

Belief Eisenhower Plans To Run Again Was Factor In Gov. Dewey's Decision

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—One important factor behind Tom Dewey's withdrawal from the re-election race is his belief that Eisenhower will now run for a second term.

When Eisenhower first entered the White House he was quite frank in telling close friends that he would be a one-term president. On top of this, there was evidence of a tacit understanding that if he did not run again he would throw his weight behind Dewey—the man who got him the nomination in Chicago.

Recently, however, Eisenhower has given various intangible indications that he likes his job better and will run for re-election in 1956. Certainly a powerful group of Eisenhower Republicans are determined that he shall run.

This, according to close friends of Governor Dewey, is one reason he decided to step down. If he remains out of public life for a time, Dewey figures, he might have a much better chance to come back in 1960 and attain his great ambition—the presidency of the United States. He is still a relatively young man.

Taft Republicans Elated
Taft Republicans are not only elated at Dewey's step-down, but are conspiring for other step-downs of top Deweyites in key GOP places. Bitterness against Dewey has not simmered much since those virulent days in July 1952 when Senator Dirksen of Illinois branded Dewey a menace to his party.

Dirksen himself has made peace with Dewey, but not some of the other anti-Dewey, pro-Taft diehards. Some even go so far as to say privately that they would rather see the Republican party defeated in 1956 than tolerate Deweyism in or around the White House. They figure they could reform their ranks four years later, then stage a comeback.

Who Killed the School Bill?
As millions of youngsters go back to overcrowded schools, here is the inside story of why Congress never passed the $500,000,000 school construction bill pushed by Senator Cooper of Kentucky.

Cooper, a Republican, championed the bill despite the fact that the Eisenhower administration was against it. He was joined by Sen. Lister Hill, Alabama Democrat, and others. But when Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, was called to testify, she told senators that while she was for the principle of the bill she was against its adoption at this time.

Instead she proposed a survey and a conference two years hence to study the needs for school construction. This brought immediate objections from Senator Hill. He pointed out that the 81st Congress had already spent $3,000,000 on a school survey and as a result they knew exactly what the needs were. Some of the figures, Mrs. Hobby had cited in her testimony before the Senate committee, he said, came from this survey.

"There have already been seven national conferences on this question," Hill protested. "They even began under the Hoover administration. Meanwhile our schools are getting more and more crowded. It seems to me it is time for action, not talk. The Eisenhower administration made a specific pledge to help the schools, and this is the time to do it."

Senator Cooper, Republican, agreed, and both senators pushed the bill. But when Commissioner of Education Sam Brownell, brother of the attorney general, was asked to testify, he first accepted, then backed out. It was learned that his failure to appear was on session there for Sunday to talk with the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, who has just returned from the conference about Southeast Asia held in Manila. The allies of the United States signed there a moral commitment not merely to consult with one another but to do something about Communist aggression if it goes further than this.

All this does not paint a picture of a peaceful world or of a state of mind on the part of the Communists which makes the word "peaceful" in the phrase "peaceful co-existence" any less a mask for belligerence than it has been. Plainly the Government of the United States finds itself stymied in Asia, and the Communists are taking full advantage of America's frustration. The die was cast in London last spring when Britain said she would not care to wage a war for the defense of Southeast Asia. Now France, having withdrawn from Indochina, in effect tells the world by her rejection of the European Defense Community agreement that she isn't sure she knows whether she wants America or Soviet Russia as her ally in the future.

It's a confused situation in which the American people are not being alerted to the dangers that lie ahead. Possibly it's because the Republicans think they have printed too many copies of their "peace and prosperity" slogan to adopt a new one before the congressional elections are held in November. But time is running out and the factors of tension and explosiveness that make for sudden war are not being erased by the attitude of passivity which seems to prevail in official quarters—including Denver, where the fishing and the golfing have been pleasant—as if peace is attainable by merely wishing that the bad men of the world would just go away.

ANEMIA IN AGED

D. F. writes: Can old people be anemic?

REPLY
Yes. Anemia is not partial to any age although certain types are more common in different age groups. Pernicious anemia, for example, is more prevalent in the elderly, whereas iron deficiency anemia favors women in their 40s.

IT'S THE HUMIDITY
C. R. writes: Why does a high humidity make a person feel like not working?

REPLY
The exact cause is not known, except that when the humidity and temperature are high, perspiration does not evaporate from the body's surface. The person is thus deprived of his number one cooling device.

ECZEMA AND PREGNANCY
Mrs. E. writes: I have eczema in different parts of the body. Can you tell me why it clears up only during pregnancies?

REPLY
I can offer no explanation, provided the diagnosis is correct. Arthritis, for example, often disappears during pregnancy and the same can be said of skin conditions such as psoriasis and neurodermatitis.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Symbol Of Cruelty Stands In Moscow

Columbus discovered America in 1492, an achievement for which his memory is hardly honored in Soviet Russia. But Moscow in 1492 was less interested in Columbus than in the completion that year of the walls surrounding the Kremlin.

Those walls still stand. They saw the reigns of Ivan the Terrible and Peter the Great and Catherine the Great and all the later czars, great or terrible or weak, down to the last Nicholas. Then Lenin the great moved behind their walls, and Stalin the terrible. When Stalin died a year and a half ago, the 1492 walls guarded the fat body of Malenkov, who has not yet been labeled terrible or great, and Krushchev, who may yet seize the No. 1 spot in Russia.

It was strange that the Bolsheviks who liquidated the czars should have kept the Kremlin, that symbol of czarist tyranny whose walls guarded rulers from the anger of their oppressed people. Perhaps Lenin, who must have believed that he was ushering in Utopia, thought it didn't matter.

But Stalin, perhaps Russia's cruelist ruler, might well have made his home and office in quarters that were less prone to emphasize his similarity to the bloodiest of the czars. Why didn't he? He valued his own skin, as his phobic purges show, and inside the Kremlin is the safest place in Russia.

His successors, in power a year and a half, have shown a better sense of public relations. Malenkov and Krushchev have moved out of their Kremlin apartments, and are progressively transferring more and more government business to other areas. The Kremlin, which had been harder for visitors to get in and out of than an American prison, is to be opened to the public; and if it is ever bombed, the main casualties will be a few sightseers and the harmless shades of ancient and outmoded amateur tyrants.

Today its golden domes, surrounded by their triangular mile and a half of wall, still stand. Its former occupants may transact their business in modern skyscrapers, but the world still fears them, and the Kremlin is still the symbol of their cruelty and their power.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

On Senility

It would seem that thus far one of the principal charges against Senator Joe McCarthy before the Watkins Committee is that he is a harsh, gruff man whose selectivity of words is inadequate to conform with senatorial etiquette. He is said to use base and degrading language about his colleagues. In a word, he is accused of being something of a boor in very polite society. He calls other senators bad names; he has not yet been accused of sticking out his tongue, which he well might do.

The worst word he used is apparently senile. He has been accused of calling Senator Ralph Flanders senile. He is also being accused of referring to other senators in language to which Marines but not senators are accustomed. He is accused of saying that one, Hendrickson of New Jersey, had no guts. Guts is an ugly word. Joe should have used the word, colon, but nobody would have known what he meant, except those whose colon is a problem to them. He might have said that Hendrickson lacked a colon. He might also have used the word, derma, which some people stuff with a mixture of suet, flour and spices and then eat.

As to the senility of Senator Flanders, that is a measurable matter. It is possible to determine medically whether the senator from Vermont or any other senator possesses faculties which have so degenerated that no longer is he able to employ them adequately. Age has nothing to do with it. Herbert Hoover at 80 is younger, to my certain knowledge, than he was at 60. Bernard Baruch at 84 is so active that he tires out his friends. Mrs. Fritz Kreisler at 85 can argue a younger man to a standstill.

However and alas, there comes a time when the blood vessels do pinch off from too much cholesterol or for some other reason and there can be a limp or a twitch or just a plain loss of the capacity for prolonged celebration. I once knew a statesman—let him be nameless—who could only work two or three hours a day and then he would fall asleep. The world regarded him as a great man; his secret was well-kept by those who did his thinking for him.

The Watkins Committee called in two Associated Press reporters to prove that Joe said naughty things about his colleagues. They should have called us all in and we might testify as to what most senators say about their colleagues, but not for publication.

The trouble with Joe is that he talks too much for publication and often too truthfully. Had he studied the technique of Talleyrand, who was one of history's really great statesmen, he would have learned perhaps that public men speak the whole truth only when they are alone with their consciences.

Senility is a harsh word and I now understand Senator Flanders' pursuing anger. The fear, with all of us, is that it might be true. On the other hand, it may only be hyperinsulinism, the favorite new ailment which is very expensive and therefore important. It is much cheaper to buy a mink coat than to fight hyperinsulinism. Or it may be a creeping forgetfulness. Or it may be nothing more than pains and aches from brittleness and calcium deposits. Who can really tell but a physician or a psychiatrist?

Men do grow old, some of them at a very early age. A class reunion is the most unhappy of all events, after the 25th year, because nobody can really look and act as old as the other fellow. Many of my classmates are grandfathers and revel in being patriarchs. Perhaps even more distressing is to permit curiosity to drive you to have lunch with the girl you left behind a quarter of a century ago. And all the time you wonder whether she thinks the same about you. It is sad to grow venerable, except in an older China where the ancient ones were respected for being so.

And thus, we come back to Joe. Maybe he should be censured for calling Flanders senile. He should have been more polite to a fellow Republican. All he may say is that the old duffer . . . but who am I to put words in an Irish Marine's mouth?

Free World Is Now Living In "Era Of Make-Believe"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—This period in history will probably be described some day as the era of make-believe—when governments and peoples of the free world simply refused to be realistic about what was happening all around them.

When, for example, the Korean War broke out in June 1950, the world was assured that the "police action"—as President Truman called it—would be over in a short time.

When it ended after three years of fighting, the world was assured in glowing terms that aggression had been "repelled" and communism had suffered a setback.

Predictions were widely published in the press by realistic observers that, after the armistice was signed, the military energies of the Communists would be turned toward Indochina. Solemn warnings were issued by the United States Government that this must not be permitted to go unchallenged if it happened.

But the Communists disregarded all warnings and stepped up the war in Indochina. The French and British governments favored appeasement and left America isolated. When the Indochina armistice was signed, there was another wave of satisfaction by the polyan spokesmen of governments that at last the world was going to see an end of fighting.

The Republican campaign strategists in the United States then began making films about how peaceful the world had become and how much credit was due the Eisenhower administration for having ushered in a new epoch of tranquility.

But the Communists haven't stopped fighting. They now have started another war—this time against Formosa.

Again there is a disposition throughout the free world to minimize it as just a few raids in and around a few small islands.

First of all, an American naval patrol plane is shot down on the high seas by Soviet fighter planes well off the coast of Siberia. Then there are reports of attacks on Formosa by Communist planes. And now the dispatches tell how the Chinese Nationalist air force dumped rockets and bombs on the Communist-held Amoy Island and the nearby mainland coast.

As many as 100 jet planes have been engaged at one time in the raids off the coast of China and the word is that the Soviet navy is moving some of its ships and submarines of the Moscow government.

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Adlai Stevenson talks a good game of guff.

Stevie is like my old friend William Chinnings Bryan. He knows more about being president than being one.

I sat across the breakfast table from Bryan the day he died. It was in Dayton, Tenn., and we were there for the monkey trial. He had run against McKinley twice, against Teddy Roosevelt and against Bill Taft. Now he was down to monkeys.

Bill loved the sound of his own voice so much he was practicing so he could hear it twice.

He even ran against Woodrow Wilson. That was for the Democratic nomination in 1912. He didn't like the newspapers much because we twisted his remarks like hemp in a rope-walk.

He never forgot a line I wrote around 1918. "The way to end the world conflict is to make Bryan secretary of war. Nothing Bill had charge of ever lasted very long."

Stymied In Asia

Coincidentally, the President of the United States, vacationing at marines into the area where the United States Seventh Fleet is also engaged in some maneuvering.

On top of this, the Security Council of the United Nations is called into session to discuss the attack on the American patrol plane by the Soviet air force. Since Soviet Russia is supposed to be a "peace-loving" member of the United Nations, there is expected to be some public debate about the aggressive Denver, Colorado, has summoned the National Security Council into session there for Sunday to talk with the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, who has just returned from the conference about Southeast Asia held in Manila. The allies of the United States signed there a moral commitment not merely to consult with one another but to do something about Communist aggression if it goes further than this has.

All this does not paint a picture of a peaceful world or of a state of mind on the part of the Communists which makes the word "peaceful" in the phrase "peaceful co-existence" any less a mask for belligerence than it has been.

Plainly the Government of the United States finds itself stymied in Asia, and the Communists are taking full advantage of America's frustration. The die was cast in London last spring when Britain said she would not care to wage a war for the defense of Southeast Asia. Now France, having withdrawn from Indochina, in effect tells the world by her rejection of the European Defense Community agreement that she isn't sure she knows whether she wants America or Soviet Russia as her ally in the future.

It's a confused situation in which the American people are not being alerted to the dangers that lie ahead. Possibly it's because the Republicans think they have printed too many copies of their "peace and prosperity" slogan to adopt a new one before the congressional elections are held in November. But time is running out and the factors of tension and explosiveness that make for sudden war are not being erased by the attitude of passivity which seems to prevail in official quarters—including Denver, where the fishing and the golfing have been pleasant—as if peace is attainable by merely wishing that the bad men of the world would just go away.

Like Bryan he can make a career of telling fellows in office how to swivel.

In time he will rate with those two great bench managers Connie Mack and Barney Baruch.

Tom Dewey had two runs for the roses and failed to land the cabbage.

Some of the oldtimers like Chauncey Depew, Jimmy Walker and Job Hedges could have wised Adlai up to one gloomy fact. There isn't much of a laughing vote.

Belief Eisenhower Plans To Run Again Was Factor In Gov. Dewey's Decision

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—One important factor behind Tom Dewey's withdrawal from the re-election race is his belief that Eisenhower will now run for a second term.

When Eisenhower first entered the White House he was quite frank in telling close friends that he would be a one-term president. On top of this, there was evidence of a tacit understanding that if Ike did not run again he would throw his weight behind Dewey—the man who got him the nomination in Chicago.

Recently, however, Eisenhower has given various intangible indications that he likes his job better and will run for re-election in 1956. Certainly a powerful group of Eisenhower Republicans are determined that he shall run.

This, according to close friends of Governor Dewey, is one reason he decided to step down. If he remains out of public life for a time, Dewey figures, he might have a much better chance to come back in 1960 and attain his great ambition—the presidency of the United States. He is still a relatively young man.

Taft Republicans Elated

Taft Republicans are not only elated at Dewey's step-down, but are conspiring for other step-downs of top Deweyites in key GOP places. Bitterness against Dewey has not simmered much since those virulent days in July 1952 when Senator Dirksen of Illinois branded Dewey a menace to his party.

Dirksen himself has made peace with Dewey, but not some of the other anti-Dewey, pro-Taft diehards. Some even go so far as to say privately that they would rather see the Republican party defeated in 1956 than tolerate Deweyism in or around the White House. They figure they could re-form their ranks four years later, then stage a comeback.

Who Killed the School Bill?

As millions of youngsters go back to overcrowded schools, here is the inside story of why Congress never passed the $500,000,000 school construction bill pushed by Senator Cooper of Kentucky.

Cooper, a Republican championed the bill despite the fact that the Eisenhower administration was against it. He was joined by Sen. Lister Hill, Alabama Democrat, and others. But when Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, was called to testify, she told senators that while she was for the principle of the bill she was against its adoption at this time.

Instead she proposed a survey and a conference two years hence to study the needs for school construction.

This brought immediate objections from Senator Hill. He pointed out that the 81st Congress had already spent $3,000,000 on a school survey and as a result they knew exactly what the needs were. Some of the figures, Mrs. Hobby had cited in her testimony before the Senate committee, he said, came from this survey.

"There have already been seven national conferences on this question," Hill protested. "They even began under the Hoover administration. Meanwhile our schools are getting more and more crowded. It seems to me it is time for action, not talk. The Eisenhower administration made a specific pledge to help the schools, and this is the time to do it."

Senator Cooper, Republican, agreed, and both senators pushed the bill. But when Commissioner of Education Sam Brownell, brother of the attorney general, was asked to testify, he first accepted, then backed out. It was learned that his failure to appear was on direct orders from his superiors in the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Brownell had previously announced that there was a national shortage of 340,000 classrooms, but Mrs. Hobby didn't want him to testify about this before the Senate.

Thanks to the perseverance of Cooper and Hill, however, the school bill finally came up on the Senate consent calendar during the last hectic days of Congress. There, paradoxically, it was a leading Democrat who killed it—Senator Russell of Georgia. He protested that the bill carried too big an appropriation—half-a-billion dollars—to be acted on without proper debate and that it should not be rushed through on the consent calendar. Technically, he was correct.

But technicalities won't make much difference to the children who are going back to overcrowded schoolrooms.

As Maine Goes Monday

The old political tradition of "As Maine goes so goes the nation" comes up for its biennial test on Monday, and you can write it down certain that Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the Republican lady who trounced McCarthy's candidate in the primary, will win. Strange as it may seem, however, there is a real political ferment in Maine, and the race for governor of the Pine Tree State is going to be close.

In fact, the Democratic party, for the first time in 20 years, has really begun to come to life, and the Democratic candidate for governor, young Edward Muskie, has an outside chance of winning.

This is the result partly of the unpopularity of Republican Gov. Burton Cross, who has managed to antagonize more people in one term than most governors do in two. It's also due to the popularity of Muskie, the Democratic leader of the state legislature who seems to have so many Republican friends that there's a slogan: "Vote M and M—Margaret and Muskie."

The Deadly Parallel

By Brother Barnabas

"Where were you the other day when you signed that petition for your execution?"

"If I signed such a document I wasn't 'all there', you've got to shew me."

"Well, seeing is believing, and here it is—John Henry Bumpstead."

The moral is, "Be chary about signing your name to any paper. Your signature may rise up to plague you."

A good maxim to remember in any given situation is, "Say what you mean and mean what you say." Then you may avoid being ludicrous.

"You said your horse is 16 feet high; didn't you mean to say 16 hands?"

"If I said 'feet' I'll stick to it." Another good admonition: Beware the "deadly parallel," lest it reveal a damaging discrepancy between "this" and "that."

Advance Understanding Needed

Is this wife of yours "that" woman you took for better or worse, and if so, is she better or worse than you took her for?

If she's your first wife, you married for love; if the second, for money, and if the third, for a nurse. In either case there should be an understanding in advance, to avoid any "damaging discrepancy."

Jane Digby went through three husbands and several lovers before she could identify the mate she found with the one she sought.

Have you ever been reported dead? Your wife received letters telling what a real guy you were and expressing sympathy. The report was exaggerated, you were only kaput from the shoulders up. Everybody was disappointed.

In this life one has to demise in order to know how much he has demitted.

An Irishman, being asked why he sat still in a company long after the hour at which he had an appointment somewhere else, answered: "I have observed that whenever anybody went away his character was immediately attacked, so I said to be ready to defend myself."

George Ade had his vanity punctured when Rensselaer claimed that he was born in Kokomo, and Kokomo insisted that he was born in Rensselaer. As a matter of fact, he was born in Kentland, Indiana.

Seven cities in ancient Greece claimed to be Homer's birthplace. At least six of them lied. More lies are told on tombstones than any place else, unless it be in tables of statistics.

Holdup Thwarted

In pioneer days there were many holdups on western railroads. On one trip a Methodist preacher was returning from an appointment with the money he had collected.

A bandit pointed his gun at the dominie and demanded his money. "Brother, I have no money except Sunday's collection which I must turn over to the circuit steward."

The bandit called the chief and said: "Here's a guy says he's a Methodist preacher and won't part with his money."

"Buddy," said the chief desperado, "you lose nothin', I'm a Methodist myself."

An Irish priest met Mary O'Toole on the street and asked her what she was concealing under her cape. She said it was holy water. "Let me see," said the priest. He uncorked the bottle and sniffed.

"This is not holy water, Mary, this is gin." Whereupon Mary crossed herself and said, "Glory to God, another miracle."

"All things come to him who waits." "If he waits at the place that is meet."

"But never wait for a downtown bus."

"On the uptown side of the street."

It happened in New York that a man tried to get rid of his cat. Each time he attempted to lose him he came back. A friend suggested he take him to Broadway at Fifth Avenue, and drop him down in the midst of the traffic there.

Make Your Own Tracks

A few days later his friend inquired if he had got rid of the cat. Said he, "If it hadn't been for the cat I wouldn't have found my way back home."

Don't be a copycat. Make some tracks of your own.

Alexander the Great had a wry neck. His subservient courtiers went around with necks on shoulders in obsequious flattery.

Don't be a carbon copy of anybody. Vote as you pray, even if you have to vote Democratic.

St. Paul advises: "Test everything; hold fast what is good" (I Thessalonians 5:21).

Louis Agassiz disputed with Senator Frye of Maine that square tailed trout are not found as far south as the 30th Parallel. Next season while cruising around the Bermuda the senator hooked a specimen, boxed and shipped it to the great naturalist.

On receiving it he was frank enough to say: "The theory of a lifetime knocked in the head by a fact."

It was said of Daniel Webster, "Show him a fact and he was dumb."

Individually yours, BROTHER BARNABAS.

Be Careful Of Ointments, Salves On Sensitive Skin

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When a rash develops the first impulse is to "put something on it." Many victims dash to the drug store for a salve or an ointment strong enough to "kill the infection." Meanwhile, well-meaning friends or relatives offer a pet remedy that worked so well when they had a skin outbreak that "looked just like it."

This curbstome diagnosis and self-treatment, according to competent dermatologists, is responsible for a great deal of unnecessary suffering and costly medical bills. They refer to the problem as overtreatment, or therapeutic dermatitis. Minor inflammations and trivial eruptions are aggravated, little itches become big ones, and areas that were only slightly red swell and blister.

Many individuals are sensitive to antibiotics. When one of these products is applied, a simple rash becomes weeping eczema which may extend to cover the entire body. But this is not all. Home remedies and advertised concoctions frequently change the appearance of the original dermatitis so that the physician is unable to recognize it. This leads to wrong diagnoses, errors in treatment, and delay in cure.

Why is self-treatment so common? It is due mainly to the popular misconception that the skin will tolerate anything. In addition, some feel that the strongest medicine is best for a rash. The cosmetic aspect enters the picture; many persons become desperate when a blemish appears and will apply the first lotion or salve they find in the medicine cabinet or can buy at the drug store.

The skin is delicate and sensitive and takes less abuse than our internal organs. Application of a strong antiseptic to an irritated area is like pouring boiling water over a badly burned surface.

Those who must "put something on" should rely upon a mild or harmless substance like cornstarch, oatmeal, or calamine lotion. A bowl of cornstarch placed next to the bed, for example, can be dusted on the skin at intervals to control itching and burning. An ice bag or cold compress is an excellent substitute and will not aggravate the skin disorder.

Eczemas may be treated with poultices; one cup of Cream of Wheat, cooked to form a paste, is adequate for this purpose. When the eruption is more diffuse, an oatmeal bath (four cups of rolled oats to the tub of water) is soothing and helpful.

Avoid rubbing alcohol, cosmetics, soaps, and ointments containing strong chemicals of any kind. If it is obvious that the condition is not responding to this simple routine, see a physician.

ANEMIA IN AGED

D. F. writes: Can old people be anemic?

REPLY

Yes. Anemia is not partial to any age although certain types are more common in different age groups. Pernicious anemia, for example, is more prevalent in the elderly, whereas iron deficiency anemia favors women in their 40s.

IT'S THE HUMIDITY

C. R. writes: Why does a high humidity make a person feel like not working?

REPLY

The exact cause is not known, except that when the humidity and temperature are high, perspiration does not evaporate from the body's surface. The person is thus deprived of his number one cooling device.

ECZEMA AND PREGNANCY

Mrs. E. writes: I have eczema in different parts of the body. Can you tell me why it clears up only during pregnancies?

REPLY

I can offer no explanation, provided the diagnosis is correct. Arthritis, for example, often disappears during pregnancy and the same can be said of skin conditions such as psoriasis and neurodermatitis.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is included. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A neighbor of mine up in Mt. Kisco is H. Allen Smith, the funny man. Allen says he saw a little boy up there examining very closely a typical magazine photo of Marilyn Monroe, surrounded by slews of fan mail. M. M. was clad in what Allen refers to as "a lacy and revealing sort of shift." The little boy made no comment for some moments; then exclaimed, "Gee! I'll bet there were keen stamps on some of those letters!"

On a lake steamer in Scotland, a lovely young girl fell overboard. The waters were very choppy, and the girl had already gone under twice, when a middle-aged Scot, extremely well-dressed, keplopked into the lake and dragged the girl aboard the steamer. The girl's father threw his arms around her drenched rescuer and enthused,

"You're a great hero, sir. How can I repay you?"

"Just tell me one thing," said the Scot grimly. "Who pushed me?"

ROMNEY, W. Va., Sept. 10.—Wesley Abrams made his debut as head football coach today and his Romney High School Pioneers made it a glorious start for the former Washington and Lee University backfield ace by defeating Berkeley Springs High School here by the score of 19-0.

Romney, making its debut as a Class A school, marched 80 yards for a touchdown shortly after the opening kickoff. The drive was highlighted by "Chuck" Dusic's pass to Coleman that covered 50 yards. John Smith scored on a 10-yard end run.

Emory Landis registered Romney's second quarter score by smashing over from the two-yard mark, climaxing a 45-yard thrust after Berkeley Springs lost the ball on downs on the Romney 45.

A pass interception and 15-yard gallop by Wolfe paved the way to the Pioneers' third score which came when Glenn Straw rifled a pass from the 25-yard line to Roland and Shantz in the end zone.

John Smith missed the first two tries for extra point but Romney converted after its third try on Dusic's pass to Coleman.

Berkeley rallied in the third quarter after Harrison returned the kickoff 15 yards and lateral and forward passes carried the Indians to the 25 but there the visitors' attack bogged down.

The victory was Romney's eighth straight over the visitors from Morgan County.

Dodgers Lead 2-1, Did Rain Or Curfew Stop Game In 5th?

BROOKLYN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Milwaukee's 10-game winning streak apparently came to an end in the mud and rain at Ebbets Field tonight when the Brooklyn Dodgers led 2-1 in the last of the fifth inning and no further play was possible. However, Umpire Larry Goetz said:

"I don't know if it is an official game. I'll have to talk to the boss."

Play was suspended for the second time in the contest at 10:53 p.m. (Eastern Daylight Time) and the umpires finally gave up at 12:50 a.m., the automatic curfew for all major league games.

Goetz said he would call League President Warren Giles in Cincinnati to get an official ruling.

Giles, reached at his home by telephone, first said it should be a suspended game on the basis that the game had not been completed at the time of the curfew.

Then, however, he retracted his statement and said he would not issue a decision until he had talked with the umpires.

"This is the first time such a thing has come up and I want to know more of the details officially before reaching a decision," said Giles.

Buzzy Bavasi, vice-president of the Dodgers said: "As far as I am concerned it is an official game. The rain stopped it. No curfew."

Ridder Motors Rallies Late, Beats Hout's

Score Four In 7th, Win 4-1; Amvets And Central Lunch Cop

A last ditch rally produced four runs in the 7th and final inning and enabled Ridder Motors, Inc., Negro aggregation from Keyser, to win a 4-1 thriller from Hout's Constructive Company, High School Rec League champions, last night at Penn Avenue Field in the annual Western Maryland Softball Tournament.

"Mo" Barrett, Hout's twirler, had a no-run, no-hit game within his grasp in 6½ innings of play when the roof fell on him. O. Smith, pinchhitting for Clay, rapped a two-bagger. S. Smith, sent in to pinch-hit for Moore, drew a base on balls and Coleman, batting for Ross, doubled home R. Smith with the run that knotted the count at 1-1. Taylor smashed a two-bagger that brought in two more tallies. After Washington fled out, Coleman singled to center and Taylor registered the fourth and final run. On the throw-in Coleman was caught going to second base.

Ridder's completed two snappy double plays, one coming in the 7th to nip a rally in the bud. Hank Paige collected two of the four hits made by Hout's. Ronnie Lease, Hout's second sacker, started afire in a game that was played in one hour and five minutes.

Central Quick Lunch disposed of the Cumberland Knights of Columbus in the second game on the third night's program by the score of 11-0. Ed Decker and Jack Mayo pitched one-hit ball and the only hit credited to the Knights was a single by Silvius. Among Central's six hits was a two-bagger by Decker.

The Cumberland Amvets blanked Gortner's Motors of Keyser in the opening game, 5 to 0. Glenn Kaufman held the West Virginians to six hits while the winners had only five, including two by Jimmy Collins.

John Diamond of the Amvets hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning. Leatherman and Ryan had two hits each and Smith belted a triple for Keyser.

Eight of the 17 teams that started still remain in the tourney.

Alumni Loses 18-13 Contest At Ridgeley

Ronnie Phillips, "Ace" Comer Score Two TDs Each In Lid-Lifter

Coach Chester Payne's Ridgeley High School Blackhawks launched their football campaign yesterday with an 18-13 victory over the Alumni.

The Grads made it interesting by scoring their two touchdowns in the final half, after trailing 12-0 at intermission.

Ronnie Phillips accounted for two of the Hawks' touchdowns, powering one over from the two and snaring a pass from Hartman for a 40-yard gain on the other. Fritz Showers intercepted an aerial and sprinted 30 yards for Ridgeley's other six-pointer. Hartman flung two other touchdown passes but the scores were nullified due to penalties.

"Ace" Comer scored twice for the Alumni on smashes from the 10-yard line while Freddie Barbe ran the point after the Grads' final six-pointer.

Leo Day stood out on offense and defense while Lowell Loy contributed some fine runs for the losers. Kenny Hartman's passing and kicking, two pass interceptions by Showers, consistent gains by Ronnie Phillips and Ronnie Nield and the defensive work of Mike Clark, Nield and George Ernest highlighted the play of the varsity squad.

Foxcatcher Cup Jumping Race Is Set For Today

Five Horses To Vie In Fair Hill Event

FAIR HILL, Md., Sept. 10 (AP)—The "Chinese Wall," six feet, four inches of brick and stone, is one of 19 jumps five horses will face tomorrow in the Foxcatcher National Cup Steeplechase.

Besides its height, the "wall" has a water hazard and a ditch 13 feet in depth.

The horses don't hit the "wall" until after they have taken 12 other jumps and gone most of the three miles of the twisting course over hills of William du Pont's estate.

A majority of the fences are over five feet. One is a low three feet, but there is 16 feet of water on the far side of it.

Tackling the tough course for the 14th time will be Mill River Stable's Monkey Wrench, Lowry Watkins' Tourist List, Mrs. S. T. Patterson's Goose Bay, Montpelier Stable's Mighty Mo, and J. D. McCaffrey's Brimful.

Tourist List is one of the most consistent money earning steeplechasers campaigning. He is 10th among the steeplechasers of all time with more than $105,000.

The races which du Pont started in 1934 became one of the few anywhere outside of a regular track to have parimutuel betting.

Daily double betting on two turf races without jumps is available. Three other jump races besides the Foxcatcher are on the program.

Six more races featuring the Manly Steeplechase and the Battle-ship Hurdle Race will be staged next Saturday.

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 10.—Coach Floyd "Scotty" Hamilton's griddon aggregation from Broadway (Va.) High School handed Petersburg High School's Vikings a 14-6 setback in their opening game of the season here today.

Petersburg's greatly outweighed team held the Virginians to a 7-6 score in the opening period and after a scoreless second and third quarter the visitors sewed up the game in the final stanza.

Halfback "Buster" Keggie sparked the visitors to victory by accounting for both touchdowns and extra points, the latter on plunges. In the first period Broadway drove 55 yards for its initial score and marched 40 yards for the final td.

Petersburg's touchdown was set up by Dick Huffman's pass to Wayne Boor that was good for 35 yards and carried to the Broadway nine-yard mark. Two plays later Don Huffman went over for the score.

Petersburg was headed for another score in the final period but blew that chance by fumbling on the Broadway seven. The invaders recovered with less than three minutes remaining.

The Vikings' starting lineup included six boys who never played football before and their work pleased Coach Jesse Riggelman who is rebuilding this season.

Donnie Graham and Donald Huffman stood out for Petersburg while Broadway's best bet was "Buster" Keggie.

Carmen Basilio Decisions Fiore

Takes 3-0 Verdict In Bout At Garden

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Heavily favored Carmen Basilio floored strong-hearted Carmine Fiore twice in the first round and then carved out a unanimous 10-round decision over the blood-smeared Brooklynite in Madison Square Garden tonight. Basilio weighed 147½, Fiore 148½.

It was Basilio's second victory in 17 months over Fiore and kept him in the running for a title shot at the winner of the Gavilan-Johnny Saxton championship fight.

The ex-Marine from Canastota, N. Y., who is the No. 1 welter contender, dropped his aggressive, 25-year old rival with left hooks in the opening round, and had him bleeding from a cut under the chin, and from the mouth and nose.

The votes, all for Basilio, were: Referee Ray Miller, 63-1; Judge Harold Barnes, 8-2; and Judge Arthur Aidala, 7-2-1. The AP scorecard had Basilio in front, 7-3.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 10.—Moorefield High School's gridiron warriors racked up touchdowns in the first three periods today to celebrate the opening of the 1954 season with a 21-0 triumph over Greenbank High School at Greenbank.

The victory proved costly for the Yellowjackets, however, as two first stringers suffered injuries that may keep them sidelined for several games. John Branson, halfback, was forced out with a shoulder injury in the first period and Walbert Peters, left tackle, made his exit in the second quarter with an injured wrist.

Coach Jonathan Paugh's team jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the first period when Ruel Martin, left end, intercepted a lateral on the Greenbank 15, raced to pay dirt and Harold Mongold kicked the point from placement.

In the second period Allen Bean heaved a 25-yard pass into the waiting arms of Eldon Alt on the goal line and the latter stepped into the end zone. Mongold's second placement was good and made the score 14-0.

Richard Hines set up the third score when he recovered a Greenbank fumble on the visitors' 37. On the first place Richard Evans covered the distance to the goal line. Mongold batted 1,000 in the extra point department by converting his third straight placement.

Garcia Scores 17th Victory

Cleveland Defeats Boston Red Sox, 4-2

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10 (AP)—Mike Garcia kept alive his chance to be a 20-game winner and safeguarded the Cleveland Indians' American League lead tonight by beating the Boston Red Sox 4-2. The victory was Garcia's 17th against eight losses and his fourth straight over Boston.

The Tribe now has won 19, lost 2 and tied 2 with Boston in an interclub series ending here tomorrow afternoon.

The Indians scored three runs in the third and added another on Jim Hegan's homer in the fourth off starter Leo Kiely, who went out in the fifth for a pinch hitter. Hegan beat out an infield hit to start the third-inning rally. He advanced on Garcia's sacrifice and Al Smith's single and scored on Bob Avila's sacrifice fly. Larry Doby singled Smith across and came home on Vic Wertz's double.

The Red Sox made three consecutive hits off Garcia in the fourth, scoring a run on Grady Hatton's double, Jim Piersall's safe out, and Sammy White's single. Larry Doby killed the rally with a running catch of Bill Consolo's short fly and a throw that doubled Piersall at the plate.

The second Red Sox run came in the sixth on Harry Agganis's pop double and Piersall's single.

In scattering eight hits, Garcia gave none to Ted Williams, whose batting crown aspirations were hurt by two strikeouts, two ground outs and a walk. In the seventh, Ted was called out on strikes with two men on base.

Indian slugger Al Rosen missed the action tonight because of an injury to his right thigh muscle in yesterday's game. Rudy Regalado played third.

Paul Richards Is Committed To Accept Orioles' Contract

3-Year Pact Offered At $45,000 Annually As General Manager

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune reported tonight Manager Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox has committed himself to accept a three-year contract with the Baltimore Orioles as field manager and general manager.

The offer from Baltimore calls for approximately $45,000 a year, the Tribune said, but added that Richards has not gone through the formality of signing the contract.

Richards earlier today rejected a two-year contract offered by the White Sox. He said he will not announce his future plans until the end of the season.

The Tribune said "it is believed he is motivated by a desire to spare Jimmie Dykes, Baltimore's manager, from embarrassment while the season is in progress and also to complete the season with the White Sox before making the announcement."

"It is believed," the Tribune continued, "that after working at his dual job for two or three years, Richards hopes to divorce himself from the playing field."

"Either Arthur E. Ehlers, present general manager, or Herbert E. Armstrong, business manager, will be retained by Richards as his top aide. The decision will be up to Paul," the Tribune added. In Baltimore, Ehlers said he would just "sit tight" to see what job was offered to him. Orioles President Clarence Miles was not at the ball park and was reported en route to Chicago.

LaSalle High School Tops Bedford Bisons, 6-0

Conroy's Pass To Ken Lowery Decides Game

Conroy Interception In End Zone On Last Play Preserves Win

A 38-yard pass play engineered by Joe Conroy and Kenneth Lowery netted the game's only touchdown last night in the opening quarter as LaSalle High School's Explorers won their opening game of the season over Bedford High School's Bisons last night in the mud at Bedford, Pa. The score was 6-0.

LaSalle kicked off to open the game, Bedford received on the 20 and after running three plays punctuated to its own 40. The Explorers picked up two yards the first time they got their hands on the ball and on the second play Quarterback Joe Conroy fired a 14-yard pass to Lowery who sprinted the remaining 24 yards for the touchdown. Harold Hudson failed to kick the extra point.

Conroy saved the game for LaSalle in the final minute of play when he intercepted Groden's 13-yard pass in the end zone and ran it out as the final whistle sounded.

Rain fell throughout the second half making the playing field extremely muddy. Play was marred by many penalties, the majority of which were for clipping and offensive holding.

Coach Norman F. Geatz, Jr., of LaSalle used only 12 players in the game. The only player to see action besides the 11 starters was William Buzzard.

Yankees Defeat White Sox, 6-3

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—The New York Yankees, clinging desperately to their slim hopes for the American League pennant, defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-3 tonight to remain 5½ games behind the league leading Cleveland Indians. Cleveland defeated Boston 4-2.

The game started out as a pitching battle between veteran Virgil Trucks and rookie Bob Grim. Neither was around at the finish.

Trucks, in his fourth bid for his 19th victory, weakened in the middle innings and was taken out when the Yankees put together three hits, two walks and a hit batsman for three runs.

Grim, in trouble in every inning after the second, chalked up his 18th victory, five at the expense of the White Sox. He was taken out in the eighth when the Sox picked up their third run on three singles. Jim Konstanty, National League castoff, came in and retired Nelson Fox on an easy bouncer to end the threat.

Kentucky, Terps' First Opponent, Rated Darkhorse

Duke Due For Return Among Nation's Best

By PAT J. McDONNELL
ATLANTA, Sept. 7 (INS)—The stage is set for a first-class, slambang battle among Dixie's football legions this fall—but Yankees, stay away from our door! This is sophomore year in the south—and it may be a few weeks into the season before a good Southern team is ready to take on senior-laden squads of the East, Mid-West and South-West.

The family album picture of Southern football, 1954, looks pretty much like the one taken last year, and the year before!

In the Southeastern Conference—Dixie's big dozen—Georgia Tech (three bowl teams in a row) is rated most likely to succeed. Alabama stands to recapture some of the glory of those mighty red elephant herds of folklore. Mississippi's rebels are fairly loaded, and the SEC pennant may evolve into a three-way spat.

Kentucky Dark Horse

Auburn, long the doormat of the SEC until last year's 7-2-1 performance, and Kentucky, undefeated in its last eight games in '53, should be considered definite darkhorse caliber. Then there is Tennessee, due for improvement, a potential source of serious injury to all-comers.

That Maryland crew of modest Jim Tatum—one of the few coaches who have abandoned the crying-towel as standard equipment—remains chief threat in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Duke, ancient Southern grid power, is heavy with talent and due for a return to national prominence.

Upon Bill Murray's Blue Devils—who lost fewer key men than any other Dixie school—may rest responsibility for upholding Southern prestige. Duke meets Pennsylvania, Purdue, Army and Navy. Maryland, in defense of its national crown, has but two real inter-regional clashes—UCLA and Missouri.

Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd has scheduled only SMU in the inter-regional field. Alabama meets but one foe beyond its own region, Tulsa. Mississippi places its season record in jeopardy three times, against Villanova, Arkansas and Houston.

Tatum Lost Seven

Seven of eleven starters departed from Maryland, including what many consider the best backfield since Notre Dame's Four Horsemen. But Tatum said the '54 edition will be "just as good offensively" with another fast backfield. Defense is getting most workout attention.

Georgia Tech lost heavily too, but there always seems to be new, equally good talent coming up, granted it is given time to season somewhat. The backfield should be "somewhat weaker" which would put it on a par with a good many teams. The line will be as good as '53 offensively, perhaps a shade weaker defensively.

Alabama, like Duke, suffered but light losses. Experience is a heavy commodity on both these squads, to stand them in good stead against opponents with so much untested talent.

The passing game bids fair to come in for major attention this year in Dixie. Even the best squads do not shape up as any all-powerful, bulldozer-type of ground-gaining machines—thus portending the wide-open kind of game fans love.

Marilyn Bell Gets $60,000 In Prizes For Swimming Lake

TORONTO, Sept. 10 (AP)—The collection of gifts and prizes being awarded 16-year-old Marilyn Bell for her marathon swim across Lake Ontario is growing by the hour. Latest estimates today place the total at approximately $60,000.

Among the major awards: a $10,000 check from the Canadian National Exhibition, $10,000 in cash and prizes from citizens of Hamilton and District, $5,000 in cash from the "Marilyn Bell Fund," a convertible plus 300 gallons of gasoline, polishing and car washes for at least two years and offers of driving lessons from three schools.

Holidays to Atlantic City, New York and any summer resort in Ontario have been offered.

Miss Bell, a high school senior and choir singer, swam the 32 miles from Youngstown, N.Y., to Toronto yesterday in 20 hours and 56 minutes. It never had been done before.

Wellsburg Protest Disallowed By League

Wellsburg's protest in last Saturday's playoff game in which the Pennsylvanians lost to Keyser Ridge, 7-4, has been disallowed by the Pen-Mar League.

The game was staged to decide fourth place after the teams finished in a tie for that position. The win put Keyser Ridge into the playoffs which open Sunday.

Jim Finigan's Single In 9th Beats Detroit

Sonny Dixon Of A's Cops 6-5 Decision

DETROIT, Sept. 10 (AP)—Rookie Jim Finigan, one of the few bright spots in Philadelphia's bleak baseball picture, hit a two-out, two-run single to left-centerfield in the ninth inning today to give the A's a 6-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The season's smallest crowd in Briggs Stadium—1,389—saw the A's fill the bases with one out in the ninth against Bob Miller, Detroit's young southpaw, on two walks and an error.

The 19-year-old lefthander struck out Gu Zernial for the second out, but Finigan followed with his game-winning hit. It was Miller's first loss of the season against no victories.

John (Sonny) Dixon, who replaced starter Charlie Bishop for the A's in the seventh, won his sixth game against eight losses.

Federal Aid Program Helps County In Road Projects

A breakdown of figures concerning the participation of Allegany county in the federal aid roads program shows that by 1956 a total of $337,751.74 has been contributed by the county in matching funds for road projects.

At the same time the federal government will have contributed $331,163.07 for such projects.

The funds contributed by Allegany county do not come from the general property tax but are derived from motor vehicle revenue and gasoline taxes. The use of such funds is restricted by statute and may not be used for general fund purposes.

Two large projects, one now underway are included in the federal aid program this year.

The one under way is the new road to the Mt. Savage School.

The other project is the access road and overhead bridge to the site of the new multi-million dollar plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in the North Branch-Mexico Farms area.

After all presently authorized expenditures are made, providing the county commissioners contribute a total of $166,203.08 for the years ending June 30, 1955, and 1956, the estimated fun balance available for new projects should be approximately $319,000. This balance does not reflect an additional $150,000 of federal aid expected for use in financing the new road to be constructed to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's proposed new plant.

By matching all available federal aid funds with funds derived from motor vehicle revenue and gasoline taxes, it has been possible to extend and improve the highways system within the County to a degree that would have been impossible without increased revenues from other sources. It has also made possible a plan of financing construction of a road to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's proposed new plant without issuing bonds.

County Buildings To Be Painted

Two county buildings will be repainted and decorated inside under terms of sealed bids being asked for the projects by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Authorization for an advertisement on the painting and decorating work, in which sealed bids are being requested, was made yesterday.

The buildings are the Union Street County Office Building and the Allegany County Welfare Board offices on Cumberland Street.

The Union Street structure will be painted inside on both the first and second floors, and includes halls, stairways, toilets and rooms. The bids will be opened October 1 at 10:30 a.m.

Similar painting and decorating will be done at the Welfare Board office, which is the old West Side School building.

Specifications on the work and bids proposal forms can be obtained by interested painting contractors at the office of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board.

Successful bidders must furnish bond in the total amount of the contract price and have evidence of workmen's compensation and public liability insurance. Wage rates must be figured at the prevailing rate in this vicinity.

City Will Purchase New Scoop Loader

The City Street Department will purchase a payload, a power scoop used to pick up dirt and rocks and load it on trucks.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery until 10 a. m. September 27 when they will be opened and read.

The payload must have the following equipment: Four-wheel drive torque converter; one cubic yard truck-load capacity; hydraulic boom rams, and mechanical steering with hydraulic booster.

Chest Names A. W. Conley Vice President

A. W. Conley, 217 Washington Street, was elected vice president of the Cumberland Community Chest at a meeting of the Chest board of directors Thursday night.

Conley, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, succeeds Charles E. Smith, former manager of Radio Station WTBO who moved to Charlotte, N. C.

Edward L. Ewald presided at the session held in the Community Chest campaign headquarters in the County Building, Union Street.

The new vice president has been serving on the board of directors since shortly after being transferred to Cumberland.

The treasurer's report was presented by Herbert C. Heineman. It showed the Community Chest had a balance of $14,847.71 on July 31. During August receipts were $3,549.07 and disbursements, $6,905.07. The balance on September 1 was $11,491.71.

The treasurer also reported that total receipts from 1953-54 pledges amounted to $78,930.23. This is 82 per cent of the $94,535 raised in last year's campaign.

Monthly reports from the member agencies of the Community Chest were read and approved.

A discussion was held on the organization for the 1954-55 campaign which will get underway early in October.

William R. Carscaden, local attorney, is general chairman of the Chest drive this year.

Campaign Treasurer Named By Wilson

Raymond J. Miller, 19 Douglas Avenue, Lonaconing, has been named campaign treasurer and political agent for William L. Wilson Jr., Democratic candidate for the State Senate from Allegany county.

Papers certifying the Lonaconing man were filed by Wilson yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Miller is employed by an insurance firm in Cumberland.

Chairman Elected By Mercantile Group

Morton W. Peskin Sr., was elected chairman of the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday.

The vice chairman is Frank A. Martin and the secretary W. D. Timmons.

Storm Insurance Claims Total $185,000

Insurance companies paid off approximately $185,000 in claims as a result of the two bad windstorms that hit the county this summer.

Charles F. Helmrich, manager of the Cumberland branch of the General Adjustment Bureau, made the report and added that additional damage not fully covered by insurance would run the total cost of the two storms to over $200,000.

The storm of June 28, which hit about 4 o'clock that Saturday afternoon, had sustaining winds of from 60 to 70 miles per hour.

Helmrich said, according to the Beaufort Charts supplied by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, this storm was just five miles per hour short of being hurricane velocity.

The storm also had gusts up to 90 miles per hour, but Helmrich pointed out most of the damage results from sustaining winds.

At 11 p. m. July 14, and into the early morning of the following day, the area had a severe electrical, hail and windstorm.

This storm had winds of less velocity than the previous one, with sustaining winds of between 50 to 60 miles per hour and gusts up to 70 miles per hour.

Three and one-half inches of rain fell during a short period of time in this storm.

The Adjustment Bureau, which handles adjustments for 98 per cent of the insurance companies in this section, bulked the damage figures of the two storms into one. The bureau handled 700 claims of the major type, $50 or over. Agents handled 400 claims under that sum.

The insurance companies paid out, on the 700 major claims, $175,000 to residents of the section. Agents handled approximately $10,000 in claims.

Roof damage was the most pre-dominant, the strong winds of sustained velocity ripping up shingles and sections of roof.

Shortly after the storms, the Adjustment Bureau office here was getting as high as 70 calls a day reporting damage.

The load here was so great that an adjuster from another office of the corporation, had to be sent to Oakland to take care of adjustments there.

There were 275 claims handled

Two Wills Admitted To Probate Here

Two wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

The will of Mrs. Adrian C. White, of Westernport, was probated and letters of administration obtained by Horace P. Whitworth Sr., an attorney. He posted bond of $10,000.

Mrs. Mary Moran, a sister and the only survivor of Mrs. White, was named beneficiary.

Mrs. Clara V. Sigler, widow of John William Sigler, 66, who died August 14, was named executrix of the estate when the will was probated yesterday. Cash bequests were left to the four children of the couple and the widow was the principal beneficiary.

Bridge Worker Posts Bond In Assault Case

A construction worker on a local bridge project posted $500 bond yesterday for a hearing on a charge of assault and battery.

He is Hubert Beck, of Dunbar, W. Va., who was taken into custody by city police after he allegedly assaulted William "Bee" Scarpelli, operator of the Mayfair Tavern on Winchester Road Thursday night.

According to police, Beck struck Scarpelli and also kicked him. The dispute reportedly started when Beck wanted to purchase a bottle of beer after the midnight deadline for such purchases.

Federal Aid Program Helps County In Road Projects

A breakdown of figures concerning the participation of Allegheny county in the federal aid roads program shows that by 1956 a total of $337,751.74 has been contributed by the county in matching funds for road projects.

At the same time the federal government will have contributed $381,163.07 for such projects.

The funds contributed by Allegheny county do not come from the general property tax but are derived from motor vehicle revenue and gasoline taxes. The use of such funds is restricted by statute and may not be used for general fund purposes.

Two large projects, one now underway are included in the federal aid program this year.

The one under way is the new road to the Mt. Savage School.

The other project is the access road and overhead bridge to the site of the new multi-million dollar plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in the North Branch-Mexico Farms area.

After all presently authorized expenditures are made, providing the county commissioners contribute a total of $166,203.08 for the years ending June 30, 1955, and 1956, the estimated fun balance available for new projects should be approximately $319,000.

This balance does not reflect an additional $150,000 of federal aid expected for use in financing the new road to be constructed to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's proposed new plant.

By matching all available federal aid funds with funds derived from motor vehicle revenue and gasoline taxes, it has been possible to extend and improve the highways system within the county to a degree that would have been impossible without increased revenues from other sources. It has also made possible a plan of financing construction of a road to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's proposed new plant without issuing bonds.

County Buildings To Be Painted

Two county buildings will be repainted and decorated inside under terms of sealed bids being asked for the projects by the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners.

Authorization for an advertisement on the painting and decorating work, in which sealed bids are being requested, was made yesterday.

The buildings are the Union Street County Office Building and the Allegheny County Welfare Board offices on Cumberland Street.

The Union Street structure will be painted inside on both the first and second floors, and includes halls, stairways, toilets and rooms. The bids will be opened October 1 at 10:30 a.m.

Similar painting and decorating will be done at the Welfare Board office, which is the old West Side School building.

Specifications on the work and bids proposal forms can be obtained by interested painting contractors at the office of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board.

Successful bidders must furnish bond in the total amount of the contract price and have evidence of workmen's compensation and public liability insurance. Wage rates must be figured at the prevailing rate in this vicinity.

City Will Purchase New Scoop Loader

The City Street Department will purchase a payloader, a power scoop used to pick up dirt and rocks and load it on trucks.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery until 10 a. m. September 27 when they will be opened and read.

The payloader must have the following equipment: Four-wheel drive torque converter; one cubic yard truck-load capacity; hydraulic boom rams, and mechanical steering with hydraulic booster.

Chest Names A. W. Conley Vice President

A. W. Conley, 217 Washington Street, was elected vice president of the Cumberland Community Chest at a meeting of the Chest board of directors Thursday night.

Conley, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, succeeds Charles E. Smith, former manager of Radio Station WTBO who moved to Charlotte, N. C.

Edward L. Ewald presided at the session held in the Community Chest campaign headquarters in the County Building, Union Street.

The new vice president has been serving on the board of directors since shortly after being transferred to Cumberland.

The treasurer's report was presented by Herbert C. Heineman. It showed the Community Chest had a balance of $14,847.71 on July 31. During August receipts were $3,549.07 and disbursements, $6,905.07. The balance on September 1 was $11,491.71.

The treasurer also reported that total receipts from 1953-54 pledges amounted to $78,930.23. This is 82 per cent of the $94,535 raised in last year's campaign.

Monthly reports from the member agencies of the Community Chest were read and approved.

A discussion was held on the organization for the 1954-55 campaign which will get underway early in October.

William R. Carscaden, local attorney, is general chairman of the Chest drive this year.

Campaign Treasurer Named By Wilson

Raymond J. Miller, 19 Douglas Avenue, Lonaconing, has been named campaign treasurer and political agent for William L. Wilson Jr., Democratic candidate for the State Senate from Allegheny county.

Papers certifying the Lonaconing man were filed by Wilson yesterday in Allegheny County Circuit Court.

Miller is employed by an insurance firm in Cumberland.

Chairman Elected By Mercantile Group

Morton W. Peskin Sr., was elected chairman of the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday.

The vice chairman is Frank A. Martin and the secretary W. D. Timmons.

Storm Insurance Claims Total $185,000

Insurance companies paid off approximately $185,000 in claims as a result of the two bad windstorms that hit the county this summer.

Charles F. Helmrich, manager of the Cumberland branch of the General Adjustment Bureau, made the report and added that additional damage not fully covered by insurance would run the total cost of the two storms to over $200,000.

The storm of June 28, which hit about 4 o'clock that Saturday afternoon, had sustaining winds of from 60 to 70 miles per hour.

Helmrich said, according to the Beaufort Chart supplied by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, this storm was just five miles per hour short of being hurricane velocity.

The storm also had gusts up to 90 miles per hour, but Helmrich pointed out most of the damage resulted from sustaining winds.

At 11 p. m. July 14, and into the early morning of the following day, the area had a severe electrical, hail and windstorm.

This storm had winds of less velocity than the previous one, with sustaining winds of between 50 to 60 miles per hour and gusts up to 70 miles per hour.

Three and one-half inches of rain fell during a short period of time in this storm.

The Adjustment Bureau, which handles adjustments for 98 per cent of the insurance companies in this section, bulked the damage figures of the two storms into one. The bureau handled 700 claims of the major type, $50 or over. Agents handled 400 claims under that sum.

The insurance companies paid out, on the 700 major claims, $175,000 to residents of the section. Agents handled approximately $10,000 in claims.

Roof damage was the most predominant, the strong winds of sustained velocity ripping up shingles and sections of roof.

Shortly after the storms, the Adjustment Bureau office here was getting as high as 70 calls a day reporting damage.

The load here was so great that an adjuster from another office of the corporation, had to be sent to Oakland to take care of adjustments there.

There were 215 claims handled

Two Wills Admitted To Probate Here

Two wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

The will of Mrs. Adrian C. White, of Westernport, was probated and letters of administration obtained by Horace P. Whitworth Sr., as attorney. He posted bond of $10,000. Mrs. Mary Moran, a sister and the only survivor of Mrs. White, was named beneficiary.

Mrs. Clara V. Sigler, widow of John William Sigler, 66, who died August 14, was named executrix of the estate when the will was probated yesterday. Cash bequests were left to the four children of the couple and the widow was the principal beneficiary.

Bridge Worker Posts Bond In Assault Case

A construction worker on a local bridge project posted $500 bond yesterday for a hearing on a charge of assault and battery.

He is Hubert Beck, of Dunbar, W. Va., who was taken into custody by city police after he allegedly assaulted William 'Bee' Scarpelli, operator of the Mayfair Tavern on Winchester Road Thursday night.

According to police, Beck struck Scarpelli and also kicked him. The dispute reportedly started when Beck wanted to purchase a bottle of beer after the midnight deadline for such purchases.

The tones that come from within, and express feeling, are the most meaningful.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The same words, spoken by two people, may elicit opposite reactions. Why? Because there is in every voice the power to attract or to repel.

The secret of attraction lies in the tone of your voice, even more than in your words. Tones have a language all their own, just as this poem explains:

It's not so much what you say as the manner in which you say it.

It is not so much the language you use, as the tone in which you convey it.

For words but come from the mind, and grow by study and art.

But the tones leap forth from the inner self and reveal the state of the heart.

Meaningful Words

You see, it's the inner tones that make the outward impression. Put feeling behind your words to make them more meaningful!

Here's a little experiment to illustrate the power of inner tones: Think of someone you like, and hum a tune that reminds you of that person. Now picture something you don't like, and hum a corresponding tune. The first tune sounds happy; the second angry.

The difference is like day and night, and so is the effect of words spoken in happy or in angry tones.

Suppose you compliment someone on a new hat. Do you sound convincing? Not if you are merely repeating words! To detect the true tones from the false in your own speech, listen to others speak. You'll quickly discern the words and tones that jibe, and those that don't.

Once your ear becomes attuned to tonal differences, you will gradually put more feeling into your own voice. Practice this way, reading a poem you particularly like: Read it first without feeling, then read it as though you had written it yourself. Hear the difference? The words are stirring, or romantic, or soothing, because you are expressing more thoughts and feelings.

THE QUESTION BOX!

Q. WHAT DOES A LEADING AUTHORITY SAY ABOUT THE IMPORTANCE OF TELEVISION?

A. Senator Johnston, of Colorado, said that "television is Humanity's greatest single blessing." So you certainly need television.

Don't let anyone "talk you into taking the wrong road," and if you are on the wrong road, it is better to get on the right road, as soon as possible; and we mean using direct antenna.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints.

Each day the code letters are different.

The tones that come from within, and express feeling, are the most meaningful.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The same words, spoken by two people, may elicit opposite reactions. Why? Because there is in every voice the power to attract or to repel.

The secret of attraction lies in the tone of your voice, even more than in your words. Tones have a language all their own, just as this poem explains:

It's not so much what you say as the manner in which you say it.

It is not so much the language you use, as the tone in which you convey it.

For words but come from the mind, and grow by study and art.

But the tones leap forth from the inner self and reveal the state of the heart.

Meaningful Words
You see, it's the inner tones that make the outward impression. Put feeling behind your words to make them more meaningful!

Here's a little experiment to illustrate the power of inner tones: Think of someone you like, and hum a tune that reminds you of that person. Now picture something you don't like, and hum a corresponding tune. The first tune sounds happy; the second angry.

The difference is like day and night, and so is the effect of words spoken in happy or in angry tones.

Suppose you compliment someone on a new hat. Do you sound convincing? Not if you are merely repeating words! To detect the true tones from the false in your own speech, listen to others speak. You'll quickly discern the words and tones that jibe, and those that don't.

Once your ear becomes attuned to tonal differences, you will gradually put more feeling into your own voice. Practice this way, reading a poem you particularly like; read it as though you had written it yourself. Hear the difference? The words are stirring, or romantic, or soothing, because you are expressing more than words; you are expressing thoughts and feelings.

1950 FORD
F-6 Cab and Chassis

This is for you! A better-than-average truck with 2-speed rear axle. The condition of the body is excellent and the motor is even better. For a workhorse don't miss it! And when you buy a used truck you want good rubber — this one has it with dual wheels.
In fact, we feel there is no better truck at the price in this territory.

Election Express Stops In City, Urges GOP Vote

Congressman Hyde Travels With Group

A GOP "Election Express," starting out on an all-day, 3,165-mile bus journey from Washington to Los Angeles, stopped for 30 minutes in front of the Cumberland Free Public Library yesterday afternoon so that members of the National Federation of Republican Women could meet Allegheny County Republican office holders and party workers.

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, seeking election for a second term in Congress, and Mrs. Hyde traveled on the bus which left from in front of the Capitol about 10 a. m. yesterday.

No Speechmaking

The Hydes left the bus here and returned to their home in Bethesda by train last night.

There was no speechmaking in the 30-minute stop here but there was handshaking all around as all of the local Republicans on hand promised to work hard for Congressman Hyde's re-election. The local group was headed by James S. Getty, chairman of the county Republican State Central Committee.

Leaders aboard the "Election Express" are Mrs. Richard Simpson, wife of Representative Simpson, Pennsylvania Republican from Huntingdon, and Miss Louise Gore of near Rockville, who is program chairman of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Simpson, whose husband is chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, was in command of the bus as it left Washington. Miss Gore, who is a daughter of H. Grady Gore, unsuccessful GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate nomination in 1952, was busy greeting local friends and passing out campaign literature.

One of the chief bits of campaign literature passed out to the group of 75 to 100 persons on hand was a sheet entitled "Putting the Reds on the Run."

"The Eisenhower Administration — facing the Red conspiracy squarely, realistically, swept away the old concept that you had to catch a Red agent microfilming a secret document before you fired him," the statement began.

Cites Anti-Red Record

"Under a sweeping security order, which abolished 'disloyalty' as the sole ground for dismissal, more than 2,400 persons were separated from government payrolls as security risks. These included persons who might even unknowingly betray their country through loose chatter, or who could be blackmailed into it because of loose morals..."

The "Election Express" is en route to the eighth biennial convention of the National Federation of Republican Women in Los Angeles. They are making a coast-to-coast survey of campaign issues and will report their findings to the more than 5,000 Federation members attending the convention September 22 and 23.

Winds, Rain Expected In Area Today

Residents of Allegheny and Garrett counties can look forward to rain and strong winds today and they apparently will be given a slight indication of the high winds which resulted from Hurricane Edna, sweeping up the Atlantic Coast yesterday from Cape Hatteras.

Some sections of the Chesapeake Bay area have been alerted to prepare for winds up to 55 miles an hour. However, the Weather Bureau announced that the storm probably would bypass the state but its outer edges were expected to touch the Eastern Shore.

Squally weather was expected to occur at about 4 a. m. today along the coast and over the bays, with at least gale winds up to around 55 miles per hour early this morning.

Precautions for the "protection of life and property" from these conditions were advised, especially on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

Wildcat Strike Is Expanding

COVINGTON, Va., Sept. 10 (AP)—Management and union officials said today there had been some expansion in the wildcat strike of workers at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. mill here, but declined to say how many workers were involved.

Yesterday, approximately 160 workers participated in the work stoppage, which company and union sources said stemmed from the five-day suspension Wednesday of a pipe-fitting department worker who refused to stay overtime.

Idle workers milled about the plant entrances today, some bearing placards. There was no disorder and other union workers entered the plant on their usual shifts.

Crawley Williams, plant manager, said the company is willing and anxious to meet with union leaders to discuss getting the men back to work. "But we will not discuss the issues in this dispute until the men are back at work," he said.

Avenue Closing In Frostburg Is Opposed

Mayor, Council Will Take Action

A proposed ordinance to close a section of Park Avenue in Frostburg to vehicular traffic drew opposition from a number of residents of that section of the community during a meeting last night of the city's Mayor and Council.

The ordinance submitted would provide for the closing of the avenue from Maple Street to the end of the stone wall of Frostburg State Teachers College on the north side of the avenue.

The objection raised by the residents is that the closing of the avenue would deprive the community of the use of one of the main arteries to the center of town.

James Reid, Baltimore, a representative of the State Board of Education explained that the proposal was made to provide the college with a satisfactory campus and also that the street would not be closed until the widening of College Avenue, at the expense of the state, could be completed.

Traffic would be diverted from Park Avenue to College Avenue. Reid urged prompt action on the ordinance, explaining that plans are being worked out by the state architects for the construction of two additional buildings to the college, a dormitory for women and one for men.

These buildings are to be built on sites astride the present road bed of Park Avenue. Mayor Perry W. Myers, after hearing the pro and con arguments said approval or rejection of the ordinance is a responsibility of the Mayor and Council and that definite action would be taken within 30 days.

Editor's Note—This is the last of a series of articles designed to detail the changes in the new Social Security bill, signed into law this month by President Eisenhower. Nine out of ten families in the area are affected, and this series is intended to inform our readers of their benefits and coverage under the law.

Concluding a series of explanatory articles on the new Social Security law and how it affects individuals and their families, James E. Robertson yesterday commented upon benefits to survivors and the new formula for figuring the worker's insurance payment.

Robertson called attention to a provision in the amended law which affects survivors of workers who died before September 1, 1950, without having acquired enough covered employment to become insured under the old law.

Filter Project Is Progressing On Schedule

Most Units Found In Good Condition

The rehabilitation of 12 old filter units at the Lake Gordon filtration plant is progressing on schedule, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

The work of reconditioning and housing the filter units which comprise the original filtration plant is being done by the George F. Hazeltine Construction Company, the firm which last year completed the installation of six modern units.

When this project and related work is completed, the City of Cumberland will have a modern filter plant designed to treat 18,000,000 gallons of water daily and capable of operating under a 25 per cent overload.

Three Units Opened

Since work began August 13, the firm has opened three of the filter units and plans to take six out of service at one time during the major overhauling.

City officials reported yesterday that about five per cent of the lateral feeder pipes in the filter units will be replaced. There are about 50 of the pipes near the bottom of each unit and officials said most of the tubing — made of wrought iron — is still in perfect condition in spite of more than 40 years of constant service.

Officials said the six new and remaining six old filter units will provide plenty of filtered water for the city while repairs are being made, since all will operate at beyond their rated capacity and meet the daily demands of up to 14 million gallons of water daily.

Pump Is Installed

The Hazeltine crews recently installed an electric-powered pump to operate water facilities, replacing a water turbine installed when the plant was built, and before electric power was available at Lake Gordon.

The electric pump, incidentally, will mean a considerable saving of water which was formerly used to operate the turbine, a factor to be considered in view of last year's extended drought and expanding demands for water.

To be built in a future contract are modern contact basins. These, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, will provide better water than ever, since they will remove all larger particles before the water hits the filter beds.

The contact basins will allow the filters to perform better their major function — the removal of microscopic particles from the water.

Church Finishes Building Project

The newly-renovated church school building of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Virginia Avenue, will be used for the first time tomorrow, according to Rev. David C. Street II, vicar.

The reconstruction project, which was directed by Jacob R. Moore of the church advisory board, was completed through the assistance of members of the congregation.

Tomorrow's 9:30 a.m. worship service at Holy Cross will be followed by a coffee hour in the parish hall. The children of the parish will attend part of the morning service and will then move to the new church school building for classes.

Church school this year will be directed by Harry F. Goss, who will have a staff of six teachers assisting him.

Ditch Digging Units Busy On Frederick St.

Starting Monday, three ditch-digging machines will be busy excavating for storm sewers to be laid in connection with the Frederick Street improvement project.

City officials said the contractor, the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, will lay a 42-inch storm sewer from Linden Street to past the East Side Fire Station.

They said work at that point has been delayed since the city must re-lay about 60 feet of 15-inch sanitary sewer in Frederick Street to make way for the big storm water line.

The street is the scene of much activity as utilities make necessary changes needed to allow the storm sewer to be laid below the level of other utility lines.

Election Express Stops In City, Urges GOP Vote

Congressman Hyde Travels With Group

A GOP "Election Express," starting out on an all-day, 3,163-mile bus journey from Washington to Los Angeles, stopped for 30 minutes in front of the Cumberland Free Public Library yesterday afternoon so that members of the National Federation of Republican Women could meet Allegany County Republican office holders and party workers.

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, seeking election for a second term in Congress, and Mrs. Hyde traveled on the bus which left from in front of the Capitol about 10 a. m. yesterday.

No Speechmaking

The Hydes left the bus here and returned to their home in Bethesda by train last night.

There was no speechmaking in the 30-minute stop here but there was handshaking all around as all of the local Republicans on hand promised to work hard for Congressman Hyde's re-election. The local group was headed by James S. Getty, chairman of the county Republican State Central Committee.

Leaders aboard the "Election Express" are Mrs. Richard Simpson, wife of Representative Simpson, Pennsylvania Republican from Huntingdon, and Miss Louise Gore of near Rockville, who is program chairman of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Simpson, whose husband is chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, was in command of the bus as it left Washington. Miss Gore, who is a daughter of H. Grady Gore, unsuccessful GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate nomination in 1952, was busy greeting local friends and passing out campaign literature.

One of the chief bits of campaign literature passed out to the group of 75 to 100 persons on hand was a sheet entitled "Putting the Reds on the Run."

"The Eisenhower Administration — facing the Red conspiracy squarely, realistically, swept away the old concept that you had to catch a Red agent microfilming a secret document before you fired him," the statement began.

Cites Anti-Red Record

"Under a sweeping security order, which abolished 'disloyalty' as the sole ground for dismissal, more than 2,400 persons were separated from government payrolls as security risks. These included persons who might even unknowingly betray their country through loose chatter, or who could be blackmailed into it because of loose morals..."

The "Election Express" is en route to the eighth biennial convention of the National Federation of Republican Women in Los Angeles. They are making a coast-to-coast survey of campaign issues and will report their findings to the more than 5,000 Federation members attending the convention September 22 and 23.

The ordinance submitted would provide for the closing of the avenue from Maple Street to the end of the stone wall of Frostburg State Teachers College on the north side of the avenue.

The objection raised by the residents is that the closing of the avenue would deprive the community of the use of one of the main arteries to the center of town.

James Reid, Baltimore, a representative of the State Board of Education explained that the proposal was made to provide the college with a satisfactory campus and also that the street would not be closed until the widening of College Avenue, at the expense of the state, could be completed.

Traffic would be diverted from Park Avenue to College. Reid urged prompt action on the ordinance, explaining that plans are being worked out by the state architects for the construction of two additional buildings to the college, a dormitory for women and one for men.

These buildings are to be built on sites astride the present road bed of Park Avenue. Mayor Perry W. Myers, after hearing the pro and con arguments said approval or rejection of the ordinance is a responsibility of the Mayor and Council and that definite action would be taken within 30 days.

This is eight fewer than died of drowning during the same four-month period last year.

Survivor Benefits Advanced Under New Social Security

Table Shows Amounts Payable To Those Who Fully Qualify Under New Provisions

Editor's Note—This is the last of a series of articles designed to detail the changes in the new Social Security bill, signed into law this month by President Eisenhower. Nine out of ten families in the area are affected, and this series is intended to inform our readers of their benefits and coverage under the law.

Concluding a series of explanatory articles on the new Social Security law and how it affects individuals and their families, James E. Robertson yesterday commented upon benefits to survivors and the new formula for figuring the worker's insurance payment.

Robertson called attention to a provision in the amended law which affects survivors of workers who died before September 1, 1950, without having acquired enough covered employment to become insured under the old law.

"If you are the surviving aged widow, child, widowed mother with minor children, or aged parent of a worker who died between 1939 and September 1, 1950, and you were not eligible for survivor's benefits before," Robertson said, "the new law may make it possible for you to get payments. If the deceased breadwinner in your family had at least 1½ years of covered work between January 1939 and September 1950, you should come to the Cumberland Social Security Office and inquire about your survivor's insurance benefit rights."

The amended law also provides a new formula for figuring the worker's insurance payment. It increases the percent of his average monthly wage which will be payable in benefits. (Typical retirement and survivors payments for persons qualifying after August 1954 are shown on the following table.)

BENEFITS PAYABLE TO THOSE QUALIFYING AFTER AUGUST 1954

Average monthly wage*	Workers' monthly benefit	Worker and wife	Survivors
			Widow, child, etc.	1 child	2 children
$30.00	$45.00	$45.00	$30.00	$45.00	$50.20

Filter Project Is Progressing On Schedule

Most Units Found In Good Condition

The rehabilitation of 12 old filter units at the Lake Gordon filtration plant is progressing on schedule, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves. The work of reconditioning and housing the filter units which comprise the original filtration plant is being done by the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company, the firm which last year completed the installation of six modern units.

When this project and related work is completed, the City of Cumberland will have a modern filter plant designed to treat 18,000,000 gallons of water daily and capable of operating under a 25 per cent overload.

Three Units Opened

Since work began August 13, the firm has opened three of the filter units and plans to take six out of service at one time during the major overhauling.

City officials reported yesterday that about five per cent of the lateral feeder pipes in the filter units will be replaced. There are about 50 of the pipes near the bottom of each unit and officials said most of the tubing — made of wrought iron — is still in perfect condition in spite of more than 40 years of constant service.

Officials said the six new and remaining six old filter units will provide plenty of filtered water for the city while repairs are being made, since all will operate at beyond their rated capacity and meet the daily demands of up to 14 million gallons of water daily.

Pump Is Installed

The Hazelwood crews recently installed an electric-powered pump to operate wash water facilities, replacing a water turbine installed when the plant was built, and before electric power was available at Lake Gordon.

The electric pump, incidentally, will mean a considerable saving of water which was formerly used to operate the turbine, a factor to be considered in view of last year's extended drought and expanding demands for water.

To be built in a future contract are modern contact basins. These, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, will provide better water than ever, since they will remove all larger particles before the water hits the filter beds.

The contact basins will allow the filters to perform better their major function — the removal of microscopic particles from the water.

Church Finishes Building Project

The newly-renovated church school building of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Virginia Avenue, will be used for the first time tomorrow, according to Rev. David C. Street II, vicar.

The reconstruction project, which was directed by Jacob R. Moore of the church advisory board, was completed through the assistance of members of the congregation.

Tomorrow's 9:30 a.m. worship service at Holy Cross will be followed by a coffee hour in the parish hall. The children of the parish will attend part of the morning service and will then move to the new church school building for classes.

Church school this year will be directed by Harry F. Goss, who will have a staff of six teachers assisting him.

Ditch Digging Units Busy On Frederick St.

Starting Monday, three ditch-digging machines will be busy excavating for storm sewers to be laid in connection with the Frederick Street improvement project.

City officials said the contractor, the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, will lay a 42-inch storm sewer from Linden Street to past the East Side Fire Station.

They said work at that point has been delayed since the city must re-lay about 60 feet of 15-inch sanitary sewer in Frederick Street to make way for the big storm water line.

The street is the scene of much activity as utilities make necessary changes needed to allow the storm sewer to be laid below the level of other utility lines.
